U.S. Reveals Tariff Cut To Boost Trade

Reciprocal Approval Is Reached With 21 Free World Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today a long list of reciprocal tariff cuts negotiated with 21 other countries at Geneva and said "free world trade in general will be better off" as a result.

Four months of give-and-take bargaining among the 22 nations lowered tariff barriers on trade items aggregating more than 2½ billion dollars a year among the nations concerned.

U. S. Concessions

The United States gave direct tariff cuts or concessions on foreign imports valued at 677 million dollars in 1954. Other indirect cuts brought this total to 811 million dollars, the State Department said in an announcement on behalf of nine U.S. agencies.

In return, the United States obtained direct duty concessions on American exports valued at 400 million dollars in 1954. Indirect benefits were not estimated.

None of the U.S. tariff reductions apply to imports from Soviet bloc countries, but they do apply to all free world nations whether or not they participated in the Geneva meeting.

There was no estimate of the amount of tariff revenue that would be lost.

Effective June 30

The first phase of U.S. reductions are due to go into effect June 30. The U. S. trade agreements team was authorized to cut tariffs up to 15 per cent of their level on Jan. 1, 1955, with the reductions divided equally over the next three years. Most cuts by other countries are to be made effective all at once.

Concessions obtained by the United States covered a wide range of agricultural and industrial products, ranging from iron and steel products to beer, shrimps and oysters.

Sixteen countries gave concessions on a variety of chemical products including plastic resins, antibiotics, photographic film and synthetic textile fibres. Seven countries including Japan, Britain and Germany dropped duties on U.S. iron and steel products; Canada lowered rates on beer, shrimp and oysters among other items.

Other cuts affect exports of heavy machinery, office equipment, canned fruits and vegetables, canned fruits and vegetables, airairplanes and petroleum products.

House Leaders Fight Slash in Foreign Aid

Move Opens To Restore Cut in Funds

Rayburn and Martin Attempt To Line Up Backing for Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders waged a touch-and-go battle today to persuade reluctant House members to shore up President Eisenhower's heavily cut foreign aid program.

In advance of showdown voting, Speaker Rayburn of Texas and Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts were outwardly optimistic about their joint move to restore more than half the foreign aid slash voted by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

But supporters of Committee Chairman Richards (D-SC)—and there were many among rank-and-file members of both parties—seemed equally confident he could make the $1,103,000,000 committee cut in Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 program stick.

Eisenhower declared Wednesday it would be tragic if Congress doesn't support his program designed to bolster free nations against communism.

House leaders faced a growing demand for a cutoff in U.S. aid to Yugoslavia and other "neutralist" countries.

Rayburn and Richards both joined administration forces in opposing this move.

Eisenhower agreed that "where we stand" in relation to Yugoslavia "has to be re-evaluated."

The administration wants to be free to continue help to Yugoslavia if the restudy Eisenhower mentioned indicates President Tito remains neutral as between Moscow and the West.

Eisenhower had asked 30 million dollars in economic aid for Yugoslavia in the year starting next July 1, plus a secret amount of military assistance. The House committee voted to cut the 30 millions in half. Its billion-dollar cut in arms aid also presumably would affect Yugoslavia.

Soviet Church Leaders Visit Mansfield's 'Y'

Wooster, Seville Also On Itinerary of Eight Russian Clergymen

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Eight Soviet churchmen today toured the Mansfield YMCA-YWCA building, a facility they would find no where in Russia.

The only comparable organization in the Soviet Union would be the Communist Youth League — the Komsomol—with its heavy indoctrination of Communism. But the Komsomol has no such buildings for recreational, cultural and social pursuits.

Other Stops

Later the Russians, invited to this country by the National Council of Churches, will visit two other Ohio communities, Wooster and the rural village of Seville.

At Mansfield the Russian church leaders planned to inspect the new YMCA-YWCA building. At Wooster College they will attend a conference on Christian college education and tour the college campus. In Seville they will visit churches, receive a welcome at the Presbyterian Church, and have supper in private homes.

The Russians are scheduled to leave Cleveland tonight for Philadelphia.

The Soviet delegation Wednesday night attended a dinner given by the Toledo Council of Churches and heard discussion of a number of different council problems.

The Russians are highly impressed by what they are seeing of American churches.

"I am very interested in the broad extent of the practical work being done by American churches," said one of the Russian churchmen. He mentioned in particular the church social activities, Sunday school, work among young people and young married people. He said that in the Soviet Union churches had never gone in for this sort of thing.

Expresses Gratitude

Archbishop Gustav Turs, the head of the Latvian Lutheran Church, Wednesday night paid a big compliment to American churches for the assistance they have given refugees from his country. He said:

"I express my gratitude to the National Council of Churches and to every Christian parish in the United States which, with Christian love, made its facilities available for worship of my brothers in faith and nationality—Latvian Lutherans.

"The homeland has not forgotten them. It prays for them and through me it greets them. Let them not forget their native land."

Unusual Declaration

Archbishop Turs' declaration seemed a highly unusual one, coming from a Soviet citizen. The Communist line has always been, up to this point, vicious attack on the United States and all Americans engaged in helping anti-Communist refugees. Soviet propaganda has continually pictured the United States as engaging in "slave trade" in human beings for the assistance America has given refugees and displaced persons.

Perhaps the most chipper of the Soviet church leaders these days is Armenian Bishop Sahak. The Bishop has been for a long time very deaf and could hear only when a person shouted directly into his ear. He had an ancient ear trumpet which worked very poorly. The National Council of Churches, seeing the bishop's difficulty, purchased him a modern American transistor hearing aid. Bishop Sahak is delighted. He goes around telling everybody:

"Stop shouting at me!"

475,000 Face Discharge

Army To Release Ready Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today it will discharge 475,000 ready reservists and transfer 500,000 others to the standby reserve list.

It described the action as a wholesale effort to terminate the military service liability of World War II and Korean veterans and to weed out dead wood.

Will Take Year

An Army announcement said this screening process will take place in the 12 months starting July 1. When completed, the Army said, it will leave in the ready reserve only those who are fit, who possess needed military qualifications and who will be available for immediate active duty in time of war or national emergency.

The ready reserve is composed of individuals and organized units who would be called to active duty promptly in time of war or a national emergency declared by Congress or the President.

The standby reserve is liable for active service only in time of war or in an emergency declared by Congress.

The Army's ready reserve now has a nominal strength of 1,885,000, exclusive of the National Guard, which will number 407,000 by the end of this month. The present strength of the standby reserve is only 8,500.

Pre-1951 Service

The Army said most of the reservists who will be discharged from the ready category are those who saw active service prior to June 19, 1951. Most of this group also served during the war in Korea.

Priority for transfer from the ready to the standby reserve will be given to reservists who served in Korea at any time between June 25, 1950, and July 27, 1953.

The Army said, however, that ready reservists who now are members of organized units and want to continue their military duty will be retained. Young men who have volunteered for the ready reserve and who have had no prior active service will not be included in the weeding out program, the Army said.

The screening program will be automatic, the Army explained, and reservists who do not object to discharge or transfer need not write to the Army.

Two Workmen Fall to Death On Big Bridge

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP)—In keeping with a bridgeman's tradition, work on the giant Straits of Mackinac bridge was halted today following the death of two workmen who fell from near the top of one of the bridge's 552 - foot main towers.

The two were part of a five-man crew which was stringing catwalk mesh Wednesday on cables running from the main north tower to an anchorage on the St. Ignace side of the straits.

The mesh broke loose from its moorings and slid down the 2¼-inch cable. Three of the bridgemen clung to the mesh. Two others plunged more than 500 feet into the water.

Searchers recovered the body of Jack C. Baker, 28, of Pagosa Springs, Colo., from 150 feet of water. The body of Robert Koppen 28, of Plymouth, Mich., has not been found.

It was the first day on the job for both Baker and Koppen, although both were experienced bridgemen.

Theirs were the first two deaths since work on the superstructure began. During construction of the foundation one diver who surfaced too fast died and two other workmen were killed in falls.

The bridge, second longest suspension span in the world, will link Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas. It is scheduled for completion in September, 1957.

Notice Served In Pull-Out of Inspection Unit

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The U.N. Command served notice on the Communists today that they are going ahead with plans to move the neutral truce inspection teams out of South Korea.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Robert G. Gard, senior Allied member of the joint U.N.-Communist armistice commission, announced the decision after both sides deadlocked on a compromise proposal from the four-nation Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission.

The neutral commission—staffed by Sweden, Switzerland and Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland—proposed that it temporarily pull its teams out of both North and South Korea. The U.N. Command had charged that the Czech and Polish members connived with the North Korean Communists in trying to hide a Red buildup of troops and planes banned by the Korean armistice.

Gard said that despite its expulsion order to the truce teams, the U.N. Command considers the truce in full force. He said the Allies would continue to issue full reports on movement of arms and troops in and out of South Korea.

The senior Communist delegate to the joint armistice group, North Korean Maj. Gen. Chung Keuk Rok, countered that the Allied move was "a serious threat and menace to peace in Asia."

Gunmen Get $211,000 In Jewels in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Three identically costumed gunmen snatched two gem brokerage firm employes off a Greenwich Village street Wednesday and fled with $211,000 worth of cut and uncut diamonds.

Albert C. Schmitt, 32, and Eugene Epsky, 27, said each gunman wore dark goggles, white gloves, peaked hats and denim work clothes similar to those of subway motormen.

The diamonds were to be delivered to five midtown Manhattan firms. Police said the gems were insured.

Tito Expecting No Changes in U.S. Relations

Yugoslav Chief Calm After Sen. McCarthy's Move To Slice Funds

MOSCOW (AP) — President Tito says his visit to Russia will not affect Yugoslavia's friendly relations with the United States.

Talking with reporters at a Kremlin reception Wednesday night, the Yugoslav chief brushed aside as "not important" Sen. McCarthy's move in the Senate to cut off U. S. aid to Yugoslavia because of Tito's trip to Moscow.

'Friendship Continues'

"Our relations with the United States will not suffer," Tito said, when asked about the McCarthy resolution. "Our friendship with the United States will continue as before our trip here."

When an American remarked that he should journey to Washington to make sure there was no misunderstanding of his intentions, Tito replied: "If I am invited, why not? But first I must be invited."

Some 1,000 diplomats and Soviet leaders, including Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin, attended the gala reception in the Kremlin's gold and marble St. George's Hall.

During the exchange of toasts, Tito stressed Yugoslavia's independent foreign policy.

"We have had no difficulty finding a common point of view in the talks we have held so far," Tito told the Soviet leaders, "especially on the sovereignty and independence of our foreign policy.

'Full Understanding'

"We have found a full understanding of Yugoslavia's position and I am convinced our coming here will play a great role in the cause of peace in general.

"We came to Moscow because it is a principle of our policy to cooperate with all countries."

Tito said Yugoslavia's ouster from the Moscow-dominated Cominform eight years ago was "artificial and against the will of both our people." He made no mention of Stalin, whom the Kremlin's present leadership now blames for the Cominform campaign against Tito.

St. Mary Grade School Class Schedule Reduced

With an enrollment expected to exceed 500 students next year, St Mary School will add three more grades to its present schedule for half-day classes. The new plan will mean half-day sessions for grades one through eight. Grades two through five have been going half days this year.

Plans as to specific hours for morning and afternoon sessions and the division of grades for each day are still under consideration, according to school authorities.

Building Studied

County Group Working For Rural Youth Center

At a meeting of representatives of Marion County's rural organizations in the county extension office Wednesday night, first concrete steps were taken toward determining the requirements of a proposed new rural youth group meeting place and the costs of erecting such a structure.

Robert Edwards of the architectural firm of Edwards & Burris was present to discuss the kind of a building that might be erected, and its cost. Mr. Edwards said that at today's prices, a building such as the group might require probably would cost about $8 per square foot.

LAST NIGHT'S meeting was the upshot of one held May 7 at which is was decided that a rural youth meeting place was needed for the following reasons: there is at present no adequate gathering place in the county for county-wide groups, especially youth; the Coliseum has proved to be inaccessible and does not meet the needs for these groups, and organizations such as Granges, Farm Bureau, Production Credit Association and many others would, it is thought, use such a building were it available.

After considerable discussion on the proposed project, officers were elected to head the group as follows: Ellwood Parrott, county extension director, chairman; John Nicholson, associate extension agent, vice chairman; Charles Might, farm director of Marion radio station WMRN, secretary; and Robert Hinaman, treasurer.

It had been suggested that a rural youth meeting place would have to encompass the following facilities: banquet capacity for 400 persons, a stage, kitchen, rest rooms, cloak room, a combination heating and air conditioning system, acoustical provisions, wiring for public address system, and sliding panels for partitioning the auditorium into smaller meeting places. In addition, it was decided that the building should be a self-contained unit.

In final action at that meeting, it was decided to name the proposed structure the Marion County Rural Life Center.

D. T. MILLS, county superintendent of schools, reported Wednesday that if the youth center were built on the county fairgrounds, a lease for the building might be acquired from the county commissioners for a longtime period. He reported that the present Marion Matinee Club is operating under similar circumstances with satisfactory results.

It was the unanimous decision of those present, after hearing Mr. Edwards' report, that the officers be appointed as a ways and means committee to look into the question of financing a new building of the type required.

Agents Hunt for It

U.S. Believes Big Piece Of Soviet Talk Missing

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials believe a big chunk is missing from the version of Nikita Khrushchev's attack on Joseph Stalin which the State Department released this week.

American diplomats and agents abroad have been ordered to hunt for any missing portion — which may run between 10,000 and 15,000 words—and get it to Washington at once if they find it. The search has been assigned the highest priority.

Covered Foreign Affairs

What is missing, authorities here feel, is a long section believed to have dealt with a denunciation of Stalin's conduct of foreign affairs.

It could be especially significant for the free nations to know what Communist party boss Khrushchev said about these matters because it would indicate Khrushchev's own thinking.

President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday he thinks the Khrushchev speech was designed primarily for Soviet domestic purposes. If this appraisal is correct, whatever Khrushchev said on foreign policy would be written not for foreign but for Soviet ears. The speech was delivered in late February to a secret meeting of the Soviet Communist Party Congress.

Subjects not covered in the text given out Monday by the State Department include Stalin's handling of Russia's relations with Red China, the Korean War, Soviet pressures against Iran and Turkey, Western formation of the Atlantic Alliance, postwar treatment of Germany, the Marshall Plan for European recovery and the anti-NATO Warsaw Pact.

Logical Expectation

All these are matters which might logically be expected to appear in such a speech.

The State Department said its version of Khrushchev's denunciation of the dead dictator had been prepared for the guidance of Communist party leaders in some country outside Russia.

It is understood this was one of the Eastern European satellites and not Yugoslavia. There have been reports that the speech reached Washington through the French government.

President Will Receive Letter From Bulganin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin has written a new letter to President Eisenhower. Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin arranged to deliver it at the State Department in mid-afternoon today.

A Soviet embassy source, questioned about a 4 p.m. (EST) date that Zarubin made with Secretary of State Dulles, told a reporter: "I understand he is going to deliver a letter from Mr. Bulganin for the President."

Since last summer Bulganin and Eisenhower have exchanged a series of letters mostly concerned with disarmament but also including a proposal made by Bulganin in January for a friendship treaty between Russia and the United States and other Western powers.

The embassy spokesman declined to comment on the subject matter of the new message.

Zarubin had been scheduled to return to Moscow last Saturday for consultation, but canceled his flight at the last minute. There was speculation today that he had received instructions to stay here and deliver the new note.

Greek Cypriot Official Shot to Death on Street

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Andreas Sergides, a Greek Cypriot government official, was shot dead today as he entered the commissioner's office in Limassol.

A curfew was clamped on the town while security forces searched for the killer.

Sergides a district commissioner inspector, was shot three times in the chest.

In Famagusta, three gasoline bombs were thrown at a house of a British soldier. They caused no casualties or damage.

Ralph White Named Chairman

Group Planning July 4 Celebration Organizes

Temporary officers were elected Wednesday night at a meeting of a citizens' committee planning a Fourth of July celebration here. The meeting was held at City Hall.

Ralph White was named chairman and Wendell Strong was named secretary. Harold Henry was elected treasurer of the group.

ELEVEN organizations were represented at last night's meeting.

Charles Morbitt reviewed plans for a proposed fireworks display which was first discussed at a meeting Sunday night.

He said the local group would be required to furnish 2x4's for the display, as well as two men to serve as helpers.

Plans approved last night call for a community picnic to be held between 3 and 4 p.m. at a location to be selected later.

At 5 p.m. a baseball game will be held at the Lincoln Park diamond and a nightcap is to be scheduled for 7 p.m. A concession stand is to be opened at the park and arrangements are being made for the appearance of a county band.

The organization set a goal of $2,500 to pay for the celebration.

Organizations represented at last night's meeting included the Marion Central Labor Union, Exchange Club, International Association of Machinists, Elks Lodge, Y Men's Club, Marion Recreation Commission, Marion Park Board, Firefighters Association, International Moulders Union and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

THE FOLLOWING groups will be contacted for help in the final arrangements: Manufacturers' Council, fraternal organizations, labor unions, service clubs, insurance and real estate dealers, veterans organizations, loan institutions, tavernkeepers, retail merchants and auto dealers.

The location committee will be named at a meeting slated for next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at city hall. Emmett Osterholt, William Rawlins and Mr. Morbitt were named to the publicity committee.

Any organization or individual wishing to contribute to the fund may do so by contacting Harold Henry at 2-3037.

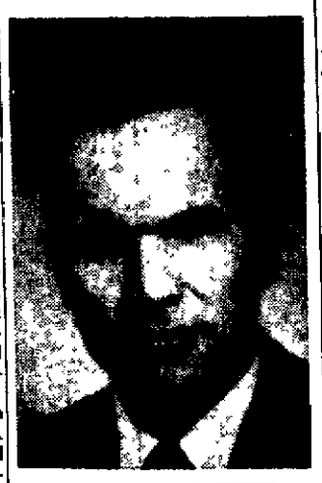
Noted Editor To Speak

Summer Vesper Rites To Begin Here Sunday



KARLIS LEYASMEYER
Will Open Annual Program

The first summer vesper service sponsored by the Marion County Ministerial Association will feature Karlis Leyasmeyer, noted European editor, author and educator. The service will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday on the lawn of the Central Christian Church with Rev. J. B. Holloway, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, presiding.

Mr. Leyasmeyer, currently on a lecture tour through the midwest, is field representative of International Christian Leadership, Inc., a non-political and non-sectarian movement of American government, business, professional and educational leaders for the promotion of sound leadership.

The president of the organization is Lt. Gen. W. S. Paul and Sen. Price Daniel is vice president and chairman of the executive committee. Other prominent Americans on the board of directors of organization, which sponsors "breakfast, luncheon and fireside groups" in a program for the cultivation and promotion of international leadership, include Dr. Arthur S. Flemming in President Eisenhower's cabinet, Federal Judge Luther W. Youngdahl, Sen. Estes Kefauver and a number of other members of Congress.

The speaker at the Sunday evening service is a first-hand authority on the Soviet system, communist strategy and world problems and will speak on the subject: "The Present Predicament and the Solution".

He was born in Latvia, lived in Russia, saw the Communist revolution in 1917, returned to independent Latvia for his education, earning a doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Riga and did post graduate work in England and Germany.

Since 1930, he has been editor of educational and scientific magazines, taught psychology and political science in higher institutions of learning, lectured to university students and the general public in eleven European countries.

In 1941 he was arrested by the Communists, tortured, sentenced to die and faced their firing squad, but miraculously escaped death. Later he survived the Nazi ordeals. He will tell some of these harrowing experiences in his lecture Sunday evening.

Jury in Texas Acquits Negro

He Says He Was Paid To Confess Shooting

FAIRFIELD, Tex. (AP)—A jury acquitted Jimmy Barker of a murder charge Wednesday night after the 21-year-old Negro testified the victim's widow offered him $100 to say he did it.

Barker said he was hunting rabbits on the Hubert Clanton farm three miles east of Athens, Tex., last Feb. 16 when Mrs. Clanton hurried toward him from the barn and said:

"I'll give you $100 to say you did it."

Barker said he didn't know what Mrs. Clanton was talking about. He testified she whipped out a pistol and fired at him several times. He was not hit.

Mrs. Clanton denied Barker's story. She said she believed Barker shot her husband, a 44-year-old farmer, with a .22 rifle.

Barker repudiated a signed confession attributed to him while he was held in jail shortly after the slaying. He told the jury he can sign his name but cannot read. He said he did not know what he was signing and was frightened.

The jury was made up of eight men and four women, all white.

Officials did not make any immediate move to bring charges against Mrs. Clanton.

Work Reminder Given

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With summer vacations at hand, the director of the Ohio Industrial Relations Department is reminding teenagers and employers of work permit requirements.

Director Margaret A. Mahoney says a student under 18 should first line up a job then obtain a permit from his school superintendent. Employers must furnish a minor employe with an agreement stating his hours and wages, she added.

Two Big Union Groups Face Crackdown From AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two key union groups faced a possible crackdown from AFL-CIO leaders today on charges of flouting rules of the merged labor federation.

One alleged rules violator is the Teamsters Union, biggest single AFL-CIO affiliate with about 1½ million members. The other is the 19-union building trades group, with more than three million members.

The complaint against the teamsters involves that union's continued alliance with the International Longshoremen's Assn., ousted from the former AFL for alleged criminal influences. Under AFL-CIO rules, member unions are barred from dealings with expelled unions.

At the urging of AFL-CIO President George Meany, the teamsters several months ago dropped plans to extend the ILA a $400,000 loan, but teamsters union chief Dave Beck says his union and the ILA will continue to remain friendly and work out common problems.

The council was expected to tell Beck the teamsters must cut off completely even their remaining ties with the ousted ILA.

The building trades member unions have decided as a group to try to block any further mergers of AFL and CIO organizations on state and local levels until their renewed jurisdictional war with former CIO unions can be settled.

Meany went before the building trades' executive board last week with a plea that their unions reverse this policy and support state mergers. They decided to maintain the policy anyway.

Adlai Backers Say GOP Split Will Be Helpful to Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate supporters of Adlai Stevenson contended today that what they described as a growing Republican split over foreign policy would enable him to defeat President Eisenhower in November.

Democratic Sens. Monroney (Okla) and Humphrey (Minn) professed to see evidence of such a split in Eisenhower's refusal to endorse Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) for renomination in a primary race with Rep. Glenn Davis (R-Wis).

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate GOP Policy Committee laughed off such a suggestion in another interview and said the Democrats "have a long way to go before they can even agree on a nominee."

And Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) said the Democrats "haven't a candidate in sight who can even come close to Eisenhower."

Wiley, senior Republican member and former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was rebuffed when the Wisconsin State Republican Convention on May 26 overwhelmingly endorsed Davis for his seat. Wiley claimed the convention was "rigged" by "king makers" among whom he included Sen. McCarty (R-Wis).

Eisenhower, asked Wednesday whether he planned to help Wiley, a strong supporter of his foreign policies, told his news conference the primary decision is one for the people of Wisconsin. "I don't believe it is a place that the President of the United States should be interfering," he said.

The late Charlie Kurtsinger won two Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel. He scored with Anchors Aweigh in 1931 and with War Admiral in 1937.

A Logical Conclusion

Members of the joint committee studying the city's traffic needs are engaged in a tremendous task, but they seem to be approaching the assignment with thoroughness and resolve.

For instance, the conclusion reached Tuesday that the estimated amount assigned in the survey for right-of-way needs and damages was too low seems sound to us.

A wide divergence of opinion apparently exists at the moment on what the damages might total, probably because no one actually knows. Some of the guesses advanced have been far too high, it seems to us, but there isn't much doubt the $153,000 originally set up for that purpose is much too low.

The committee has the specter of time hovering over it, since on the advice of the state highway department the local group is attempting to finish its study by July 1.

Despite this factor, however, the committee refuses to be stampeded and that's a good sign. Any project that could result in the eventual expenditure of something over $2,000,000 should be examined thoroughly.

Subsequent meetings this month could change the outlook, but as of the moment it looks to us like the underpasses proposed in the engineering survey are the only sensible long-range approach to the problem.

Several other alternate solutions have been advanced, but each has been rejected for perfectly logical reasons and in all probability they should stay rejected.

If the recommendations of the engineering survey, in essentially their present form, do turn out to provide the only logical course of action, then that fact should be accepted and we should move on to the next subject—how to pay for the city's share (now estimated at $500,000 to $600,000).

Our traffic problem must be solved. Let's not permit the current effort to bog down in failure when it is so relatively close to the goal.

Is Realism Bad Politics?

If Democratic campaign strategists go through with their latest reported plan to lay off President Eisenhower and concentrate on "slips of the tongue" by members of his administration, Americans may learn whether realism is bad politics.

The Democratic strategists believe it is.

The old-time politico always spoofed the voters. He helped them keep their minds off their troubles by avoiding any mention of trouble, unless he was attacking an opponent. In that case, troubles were multiplied by five and blamed on the other fellow.

It is unthinkable that an old-timer ever would have dared to say that marginal farmers should get into other occupations, which is one "slip of the tongue" the Democrats might use against Agriculture Undersecretary True Morse.

It is unthinkable that a vote - getter who believes voters like to be fooled and can be fooled most of the time ever would have said failure is one of the built-in features of a free economy, as an assistant secretary of the Department of the Interior under Douglas McKay said. Mr. McKay said, himself, before he resigned that he didn't like "some of the goons" in strike situations.

These are not the fancies of office-seekers who will promise the moon for votes. They are facts like those encountered by millions of Americans in their everyday lives. If it becomes the strategy of Democrats to appeal for votes by blaming members of the Eisenhower administration for being realistic, the issue will be joined.

Has representative democracy in the United States evolved far enough since its beginning in 1776 to make realism palatable? Or will it be demonstrated that voters would rather live in a dream world where taxes are always going to be reduced while expenditures are to be increased; where there will be a fast every Sunday with no dirty dishes to wash?

The Man To Beat

Adlai Stevenson, the political sages say, finally proved he is the man to beat for the Democratic presidential nomination this year by handsomely licking Estes Kefauver in California's presidential primary—the "big one" in this year's primary series.

Both men had staked the outcome of their success in the series on the California vote. It was the largest bloc of delegates in the series and the last of their personal contests.

But sometimes the political sages are more puzzling than enlightening in their judgment. Regardless of what Sen. Kefauver did or not do against the former governor of Illinois in all the presidential primaries, Adlai Stevenson always was the man to beat for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956 for the simple reason he was the man who was given the nomination in 1952 without even running in a single primary—without making an organized effort to win it.

That much was obvious without spending a dollar or straining a vocal chord throughout the primary warmup for the 1956 Democratic convention. Whoever beats Gov. Stevenson in the convention will have to prove he is a stronger potential candidate than the 1952 candidate proved himself to be—and such a man is not in sight yet.

Court Confusion

By David Lawrence

Are Communists 'Just Another Party'?

The confusion inside the Supreme Court of the United States seems to grow with each week's decisions. This time the Communist party can boast of its greatest victory. Three out of the nine justices have accepted the persistently expressed alibi of the Communists in this country that they are "just another political party." Congress has repeatedly proclaimed by law that the Communist party is not a political party but a conspiracy which waits for the opportune moment to overthrow the government of the United States.

Lawrence

The three justices of the Supreme Court who have accepted the argument of the Communists that they are just a political party are Chief Justice Warren, Justice Douglas and Justice Black.

The opinion of the court in the case held that an employer in California was justified in discharging an employe because of membership in the Communist party and that it was covered by the contract between the union and the employer. Justices Harlan, Reed, Burton, Clark, Minton and Frankfurter concurred in the ruling of the court.

But Justice Douglas, writing a dissenting opinion in behalf of Chief Justice Warren, Justice Black and himself, said it wasn't a matter of a local contract and that the doctrine expounded by the majority "violates first amendment guarantees of citizens who are workers in our industrial plants." Then Justice Douglas writes:

"I CAN BETTER illustrate my difficulty by a hypothetical case. A union enters into a collective-bargaining agreement with an employer that allows any employe who is a Republican to be discharged for 'just cause.' Employers can, of course, hire whom they choose, arranging for an all-Democratic labor force if they desire.

"A union has no such liberty if it operates with the sanction of the state or the federal government behind it. It is then the agency by which governmental policy is expressed and may not make discriminations that the government may not make.

"But the courts may not be implicated in such a discriminatory scheme. Once the courts put their imprimatur on such a contract, government, speaking through the judicial branch, acts. And it is governmental action that the Constitution controls.

"Certainly neither a state nor the federal government could adopt a political test for workers in defense plants or other factories. It is elementary that freedom of political thought is protected by the Fourteenth Amendment against interference by the states, and against federal regimentation by the First Amendment.

"Government may not favor one political group over another. Government may not disqualify one political group from employment. And if the courts lend their support to any such discriminatory program, Shelley V. Kraemer teaches that the government has thrown its weight behind an unconstitutional scheme to discriminate against citizens by reason of their political ideology. That cannot be done in America, unless we forsake our bill of rights . . .

"The court today allows belief, not conduct, to be regulated."

THIS MEANS that Robert Hutchins of The Fund For The Republic, who thinks the Communist party is "just another political party" and who is spending Ford's millions to advocate that doctrine in America, has found staunch support in the views of three members of the Supreme Court.

It means also that these same justices reveal an inconsistency with their refusal last week to review a case in which two workers had appealed against a court decision compelling them to join a union, though it was against their religious beliefs as protected under the First Amendment of the Constitution.

Justice Douglas offered in support of his view in the California case just decided that Chief Justice Hughes in 1937 had ruled that a state couldn't punish Communists for holding a public meeting. But that was long before the true meaning of the Communist conspiracy was exposed, as it has been in the last 10 years, and safeguards written into law by Congress.

Justice Douglas says a defense plant may need to protect itself against sabotage but that the worker wasn't guilty of any acts of sabotage.

This means that the doctrine of prevention is being discarded, and, if the argument is fully accepted, Congress and the states must wait till bombs are thrown and complicity of an individual is actually proved before precautions can be taken against the hiring of agents of the Communist espionage and sabotage apparatus. It's all just a "political ideology" to Justices Warren, Douglas and Black.

The Game's the Thing

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of the things this country needs for its peace of mind is a genteel game which men can challenge woman to play with a better than even chance of winning.

I am prepared to back up this declaration with endless evidence of needless suffering on the part of husbands who have had the socks beaten off them throughout their married lives by their helpmates in every game that came along.

These poor devils have had their backs to the wall so long that if the wall were taken away they wouldn't feel natural. Every time a new game is invented, they get their hopes up — and zowie. They lose at that one, too.

In my own case, I have tried cribbage, all varieties of rummy, Chinese checkers,' all varieties of canasta, two-handed solitaire and, recently, anagrams. For a brief time, I held a slight edge in table tennis, but it disappeared after the first few weeks had given my opponent an insight into my weaknesses.

That has been the fixed pattern of my competitive endeavors in [illegible] my weaknesses. It is not that my opponent is better than I am; it is only that she ferrets out my weaknesses and takes advantage of them.

This is the universal technique employed by wives to humiliate their husbands in competitive pastimes. It is not that the wives are better players but only that they are ruthless competitors.

The wives, as a rule, are only mediocre in gamemanship. They are devoid of brilliance and imagination. They are grossly deficient in derring-do. But they hang in there, the witches, and wait for the men to beat themselves by their mistakes.

That is why there is a need for some game designed to minimize this shortcoming of male psychology.

In more than a quarter of a century, the only contest I have been able to win at consistently is horseshoes — not because I was any great shakes at it but because the poor girl cannot muster enough strength to fling a horseshoe the required distance.

There was no contest, in other words, just an exhibition of superior physical strength. Ideally, there would be some kind of pastime designed to let men win often enough in a matching of wits to shore up their tottering morale.

Or to state the proposition the other way around, there would be a game designed to penalize wives for their plodding tactics and to militate against their deplorable habit of "hanging in there grimly," waiting for their brilliant opponent to make some darned-fool mistake and beat himself.

It scarcely needs to be said that a fortune awaits the genius who can do this, especially if he can sneak across the new game quietly so the avaricious females won't know about it until they have been whittled down to size, with their shell-like ears pinned all the way back to here.

Their first intimation of the truth should be the sound of male cackling reverberating through the length and breadth of this land, where the sound of female cackling long has made the old welkin ring hideously for husbands doggedly determined to win back their losings if it took the rest of their lives.

The way things are going, that won't be long enough.

'You Bother Me!'

U.S. Leaving Initiative to Russia

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — Although Soviet leadership says Russia is "ready" for getting together with the United States, the Eisenhower administration shows no signs of either pushing for it or being ready.

There is no sign it has worked out any policy for handling the new Soviet tactics of soft talk and friendly gestures which, if pursued long enough, may weaken this country's world leadership and its ties with its allies.

This country was shocked this week to read Communist party boss Khrushchev's speech on Stalin's monstrous murders, particularly since Khrushchev and the other Soviet leaders were Stalin's co-workers.

THE QUESTION—how could anyone deal with these leaders? — is a natural reaction to the speech. But either this country works out peaceful coexistence with Russia or the two nations must stay mightily armed against each other indefinitely.

So far as can be seen at this point the United States is merely reacting to Russian actions. President Eisenhower at Wednesday's news conference indicated this country would not take the initiative on exchanging official visits.

In this election year it is possible the administration might get some sour reaction in this country if it stopped stiff-arming the Russians. Some of Eisenhower's Republicans have publicly objected to exchanging official visits.

But, to show that the elections and his own candidacy for president are not taking up much of his time, Eisenhower gave this reply when asked if he thought he was in for a tough battle to be re-elected:

"Will you take an honest answer? I haven't thought a single thing about it. I am too busy."

In Moscow Wednesday Khrushchev talked to an American, John A. Kennedy, publisher of the Sioux Falls, S.D. Daily Argus Leader, who, after a month in Russia, told Khrushchev: "Our countries can and must get together."

"We believe that too, and we are ready," Khrushchev said.

THIS IS AN EXAMPLE of Eisenhower's thinking, carefully avoiding taking the initiative, on Russian gestures toward an exchange of official visitors:

Recently the Russians invited Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, to Moscow to watch the Soviet celebration of Aviation Day. After much discussion within the administration, Eisenhower said Twining could go.

Asked at his news conference if he would reciprocate by inviting the Russian air force chief to this country, Eisenhower said:

"If we have any indication that he would like to come, he will be welcome to exactly the same kind of things here that Gen. Twining saw over there."

But when asked if he would invite his World War II friend, Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Soviet defense chief, to Washington, Eisenhower replied:

"Well, I don't know that there will be any (invitation) extended at all . . . As I say, anything that would be done would be on a completely reciprocal basis."

Then he added that if the Russians asked Secretary of Defense Wilson to Moscow, Zhukov would be invited here.

Jesse Jones: Statesman

By Raymond Moley

It was said in 1934 by one of Jesse Jones' major assistants that practically everything the assorted alphabetical agencies were doing could be done under the powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. alone. This was measurably true. If in any case there was need for additional legislation, it was possible for Mr. Jones to get practically any amendments he needed to the original RFC Act.

He, as well as President Hoover—who appointed the Texan to the RFC in 1932—felt that the depression was essentially a crisis of confidence and credit. Banks were weak because their assets were frozen and also because they were generally operating with insufficient capital. Railroads were loaded with old debt and crippled with obsolete methods of operation. Farmers were paying too much for their borrowed money and were glutting the market with surplus crops.

It was the task of the RFC to put the strong arm of government credit under the tottering credit structure. This disposition of the resources of the government through the RFC came to be the major responsibility of Jesse Jones.

His problem with banks was twofold. First, he had to open the ones which he felt had the capacity to resume business. This was largely achieved by the Jones plan of buying preferred stock to give the institutions cash. After the resumption of business, it became his unpleasant duty to induce the bankers to take measures which would assure future stability. In this he was finally successful, despite the hidebound conservatism of many of the leading bankers.

With the railroads, the course was to awaken their management to the hard facts of a competitive world. RFC loans helped them get on their feet, but after that he was compelled to teach them to get out and hustle for business and to improve the attractiveness and efficiency of their service.

Meanwhile, for 12 long years of New Dealism, Mr. Jones was able to keep the fingers of visionary and socialistic officials in other departments out of the vast resources of the corporation of which he was head.

No doubt, President Roosevelt would have had Jesse Jones out long before he did if he had not feared the ire of Congress. For the Texan was high in the affections and confidence of Democrats and Republicans alike. Vice President Garner once said: "Jesse, Congress has given you powers which no man ought to have, and I know of no one but you who could get them."

Robert A. Taft, as a newcomer in the Senate and a strict constitutionalist, expressed amazement at the powers exercised by Mr. Jones, but quickly recognized the necessity of granting them and the fact that Mr. Jones could be trusted not to abuse them. They became warm friends.

Twice Congress granted, with hardly a dissenting vote, a type of personal legislation almost without precedent. When Jesse Jones became Secretary of Commerce, Congress by special legislation permitted him to carry along his control over the lending agencies.

Five years later, when the President, ill and irresponsible, dismissed Mr. Jones because he wanted to pay a political debt to Henry Wallace, Congress immediately divorced the lending powers from the Department of Commerce.

Jesse Jones will live in history not merely as a major builder of a great city and as a public administrator who handled 50 million dollars without a scandal, but as an economic statesman of great stature.

No one in the official family of President Roosevelt will approach his rank in the calm appraisal of history.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

White House Conversation Piece

President.—Well, what's the cold war situation this morning?

Aide.—It's still complicated by the fact we just got another invitation from Russia.

President.—That's the third show of extreme politeness this month. It looks like Moscow is waging an all-out invitation battle. What do you think of the American defense against it?

Aide.—I feel our public warning system needs to be changed . . . maybe three long blasts whenever Bulganin and Khrushchev launch a new "hospitality-rocket," and two blasts to denote all clear when they turn back to their denunciatory routine.

President.—The most dangerous Russian weapon may be "the guided epistle." There are indications America is being overinvited in this mood of transcontinental affability. First Moscow asked us to send our top airmen to review the Russian air fleet. Next they suggest an exchange visit of battleships. What's it all mean?

Aide.—You know what Churchill said about an enigma wrapped in a riddle.

President.—What complicates matters is that this enigma and riddle are wrapped in an R.S.V.P.

Aide.—We've accepted the invitation to the Kremlin air show. But I still think the picture of American notables trapsing to Moscow like visiting firemen and brother Elks is confusing to the neutral world.

President.—It plays into the hands of the Soviets as they offset the long record of low punches by presenting a picture of high respectability, with our help.

Aide.—We've got to get accustomed, perhaps, to abuse and hostility one minute and sweetness and light the next. It's amazing how easily Moscow can switch from Lenin and Marx to Emily Post and her Book of Etiquette.

President—Ahead lies the prospect of the exchange of warship visits, and Russian aspirations to get Khrushchev and Bulganin a welcome in Washington. I live in dread Moscow may invite me and Dulles to spend a week in the Kremlin and then suggest that we ask them to come over and sleep in the White House!

Aide.—It looks like Russian's latest mystery weapon is the Intercontinental Ballistic Welcome Mat.

President.—And the Outer Space Red Carpet Unroller!

ONE OF THOSE TV beer commercials is so ear-splitting that it is driving away customers . . . If the Jean Sartre movie "The Proud and the Beautiful" doesn't mix up the mixed up kids more, it will prove they are mixed up beyond repair . . . Elmer Twitchell says he can't understand how, if auto production is falling off, they can give away all those cars on airwave programs.

Tallulah Bankhead is getting such heavy dough for summer theater performances on Cape Cod that they could change the name from "The Strawhat Theater" to the "That Ain't Hay Circuit." . . . Stevenson, a study shows, easily carried the Miami and St. Petersburg area in the recent primary, while Palm Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Daytona, Sarasota and Lakeland went for Kefauver . . . This is hard to explain, but we think the Miami belt, always for showmanship, excitement, color and racing events thought Adlai the more spectacular of the two and the more likely to go for a horse or dog race, and figured Estes the type that would prefer a good book over a hot tip.

Stevenson's victory in St. Petersburg is even more baffling, as the calm, cool, easy - going Kefauver looks much closer to the shuffleboard type . . . And why did Palm Beach pick Estes over Adlai, who has a certain Palm Beach manner and would look good in a yachting cap? . . . Estes has a farthest - north - from - Palm-Beach personality . . . And who ever saw a man wearing a coonskin hat as part of a yachting costume?

Break up Mickey Mantle and Dale Long!

When Audrey Meadows was married in the little country town of Sharon, Conn., the other night, the setting was one right out of story books. . . . Sharon, up in the Sharon Mountain, Housatonic and Mudge Pond area, is a dreamland in the full bloom of spring. . . . . From this tiny community Audrey Meadows came to Broadway and nationwide fame on TV as did her sister, Jayne Meadows. . . . They grew up in this typical country town where their dad was, and still is, a country parson. . . . It's a pretty entrancing story.

New Polio Cases Total 121, Health Service Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — New polio cases numbered 121 last week. This was an increase of nine from those in the week ended May 26 but was less than half the 248 reported in the corresponding 1955 week.

A Public Health Service spokesman said the rise of about seven per cent was a little smaller than might have been expected at this season, when incidence is on the increase.

However, he reiterated it still is too early to talk about what lies ahead or whether the use of Salk polio vaccine is being reflected in the relatively low incidence as compared with the last three years.

He pointed out that the total of 797 cases reported this disease year, which began about April 1, is not far below the 846 in the corresponding 1952 period. Yet large outbreaks in July, August and September of 1952 made that the record polio year.

The 797 cases since April 1 compared with 1,471 in the similar 1955 span.

For the 1956 calendar year there had been 1,865 cases through June 2, compared with 2,534 a year ago.

Texas listed 32 cases last week to top the states. Others with high totals were: California 19; Florida 10; Illinois 9; Louisiana 8 and Iowa 6. No other state had more than 3.

TALL BASKETS FILLED with white delphinium and majestic daisies at either side of the chancel entrance, bouquets of white gladioli in the altar vases in a setting of palms and lighted tapers, decorated Emanuel Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Joyce Matson and James R. Hall, Sunday afternoon. Family pews were marked with white gladioli caught with ribbon bows.

Officiating for the 3:30 o'clock ceremony was the pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen, and the wedding music was by Mrs. Richard Curren, organist and Mrs. Allen Dryer, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Matson of 683 Woodrow Ave. and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James I. Hall of 670 Woodrow Ave.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown, styled on princess lines was of crystalette and Alencon lace. Folds of crystalette and a lace yoke appliqued with iridescent sequins in a flower design, topped the bodice, and tiny petals of lace outlined the sweetheart neckline. he long sleeves ended in points over the hands. Panels of matching lace extended down the front of the skirt which swept into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a tiny bandeau trimmed with iridescent sequins and her bouquet held sprays of white stock centered with pink champagne roses. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the bridegroom and her pearl choker belongs to her sister.

The bride's twin sister, Mrs. Ronald Dawson of Spokane, Wash. was the matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Ivan Jones of Columbus and Mrs. David McMahon of Terre Haute, Ind. They wore princess-styled gowns in an aqua shade and tiny bands of pink sweetheart roses were caught to their hair in the back. Their flowers were cascade bouquets of pink champagne roses and woodfern. Mrs. Dawson's bouquet was tied with ribbon in a shell pink shade and the bridesmaids' were in an azalea shade. A matching gown was worn by Miss Jane Marggraf of Bucyrus, cousin of the bride, who lit the candles.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Clifford Hall, and ushers were James Eddy and Francis Corney.

A princess - styled sleeveless gown of pale pink crystalette and jacket were worn by the bride's mother. Her accessories were in matching shade and her flowers were pink Delight roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a gown of gray nylon in a spring print and wore white accessories and Pinnochio roses.

The reception for 225 guests was in the church parlors where baskets of delphinium and daisies decorated the rooms. The wedding cake was surrounded with ferns and pink roses and on the bride's table was an arrangement of white gladioli and stock. Assisting as hostesses were Miss Eleanor Williams, Miss Bonnie Stoner, and Mrs. Stanley Seiter.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, New York City, and through the New England States the bride was wearing a pink linen dress and matching duster, white accessories and the rose corsage from her wedding bouquet. They will be at home at 315 S. Prospect St. after July 17.

The bride was graduated from Harding High School in 1953 and is a secretary in the office of Dr. M. S. Olson. The bridegroom, a graduate of Harding High School in 1950, served four years in the U.S. Air Force. He is employed at the Clark Metal Products.

Famed Aviatrix, Hindu Judge Bid For House Seat

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A famed aviatrix and a naturalized Hindu judge will contend in the November election for a seat in Congress.

Mrs. Jacqueline Cochran Odlum, wealthy cosmetics manufacturer, Eisenhower Republican and the first woman to fly faster than the speed of sound, won her party's nomination in the Tuesday primary.

Dalip S. Saund, judge of a township court, was the Democrats' overwhelming choice. He said that if elected in November he will visit the Middle East and his native India and tell the people: "Look, here I am a living example of American democracy in practice."

"Jackie" Cochran and Judge Saund will compete for the 29th Dist. congressional seat held by Rep. John Phillips, Banning Republican, who is retiring.

Mrs. Odlum, about 47, had a poverty-stricken childhood in northern Florida. She is the wife of multimillionaire financier Floyd B. Odlum and, with him, a Coachella Valley rancher. They live on a 200-acre ranch near Indio.

Judge Saund, a 56-year-old native of Amritsar, India, decided while in college to visit the United States. He studied at the University of California and then became a lettuce farmer.

Naturalized in 1949, he became judge three years later, then sold his farm and bought a fertilizer plant. He is credited with cleaning up prostitution and gambling in Westmorland.

Ike's Equanimity Lauded by Doctor

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, who treated President Eisenhower after his heart attack last fall, says the President has "a great deal of equanimity."

"I asked him recently what he did when he made a bad golf shot and he said he'd learned to laugh —though it wasn't always very sincere yet," said Dr. White.

Equanimity, even among golfers, is defined as "calm temper."

Dr. White, a heart specialist of international repute, told the Boston Rotary Club Wednesday relaxation is important for Eisenhower's health and "it helps him get on with the job."

NYC Sets Up New System

CLEVELAND (AP) — The New York Central railroad today announced that its Western District, including yards in seven Ohio cities, has been linked in a mechanized car reporting and accounting system.

The system, which previously operated only in the Eastern District, is based on a mammoth automatic teletype network integrated with International Business Machine equipment.

Later this year, NYC said, it would extend the network to its two other operating districts: Southern, with headquarters in Indianapolis, and Northern, with headquarters in Detroit.

Ohio yards on the Western District network include two here, three in Toledo, two in Youngstown, and one each in Elyria, Ashtabula, Columbus and Hobson.

Biggest winning odds at any Maryland track in 1955 were 137 to 1 when Gallant Tonto scored at Pimlico on May 20, 1955.

In U.S. Prison 10 Years

Ex-German Spy Flooded With Offers of Marriage

MUNICH (NANA) — Eric Gimpel, the Nazi spy who was landed by submarine on the New Jersey coast in November, 1944, lays claim to being Germany's most eligible bachelor.

Gimpel said he has received 200 marriage proposals since his return to Germany eight months ago after serving 10 years in U.S. penal institutions at Leavenworth, Alcatraz and Atlanta.

The marriage offers are still arriving but Gimpel, graying but handsome, is fielding the proposals cautiously.

His only comment: "I'm looking them over."

GIMPEL, 46, was originally sentenced to death after his capture in the U.S. The sentence later was commuted to life and then cut to 30 years. He was released after serving one-third of the sentence under parole provisions.

In West Germany Gimpel is looked upon as a celebrity. He has been earning a comfortable living doing his memoirs for German magazines and writing a film script of his career. The film will be produced by the London Film Co. in Hamburg.

Gimpel reported that he is making so much money telling the story of his Nazi spy mission to America that he had rejected an offer of employment by the U.S. Army.

The ex-spy answered an Army advertisement for interpreters at Munich. He passed the examination and was offered the post at $180 a month, the Army being unaware of his identity.

Gimpel spared the military any embarrassment, however.

"It seemed pretty obvious that I could make more money lecturing and writing," he remarked.

Despite his imprisonment, Gimpel says he has a warm feeling toward America and would like to return — as a tourist. "But that's out of the question. I was paroled on condition that I be expelled. I have to wait until my 30-year sentence expires, and that is nearly 20 years off."

Gimpel became a baseball fan while shuttling from one U.S prison to another. He says baseball is what he misses most in Germany.

—:—

THE EX-SPY KEEPS in touch with America through the U.S. Armed Forces radio station in Munich. Gimpel says it is the only station he listens to.

"I particularly like their sport programs," he said.

Gimpel is convinced that he is alive only because President Roosevelt died. "Had President Roosevelt lived a little longer, I surely would have been executed. He took a hard view of my case."

Gimpel says he is grateful to President Truman for commuting the death sentence, and hopes to see the former President while Truman is in Europe this summer and to thank him personally.

Although he failed to carry out his espionage and sabotage mission in the U.S., Gimpel proudly recalls that his stay in America was not without success: he won the convict chess championships at Atlanta prison. The prize: 12 packs of cigarettes.

Gimpel believes prison authorities were very lenient in granting him parole. He recalled that at Leavenworth he obtained a steel ruler from the warden's office and made a file from it.

"I sawed through all the bars in my cell but the last one. Then the guards pulled a surprise inspection. They tapped all the bars with a hammer and caught me. It cost me nine months in solitary confinement, and it could have ruined my parole."

Gimpel was accompanied on the New Jersey landing by Jimmy Colepaugh, an American Nazi sympathizer. The FBI caught Colepaugh and learned from the turncoat a curious Gimpel idiosyncracy: Gimpel always kept small change in his coat breast pocket.

Gimpel remembers that during the Christmas holidays of 1944 he stopped in Times Square in New York to buy a newspaper. When he reached into his breast pocket for change, FBI agents stepped up and arrested him.

Postmasters Convene

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 20th annual convention of the Ohio Chapter, National Assn. of Postmasters, opens here today. Assistant Postmaster General Norman R. Abrams and most of the state's 1,263 postmasters are expected to attend the three-day convention.

Church Seeks 4 Million for New Seminary

LAKESIDE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Methodists decided Wednesday they must raise at least 4 million dollars to build and endow a theological seminary.

"We will do it because we are called of God to do it," Bishop Hazen G. Werner told 3,000 delegates and visitors at the annual conference.

The delegates unanimously approved a report by a Seminary Committee, headed by Dr. W. B. Robinson, Canton District superintendent.

The school was authorized by a recent General Conference in Minneapolis. The Northeast Ohio Conference had asked the General Conference to consider establishing a seminary "somewhere in the Midwest."

Ohio Methodists hope the school would help offset a shortage of ministers. The church estimates it needs 133 ministers for Ohio congregations now.

The Methodist Church supports four colleges in Ohio. Last year contributions from Ohio churches totaled $2,120,903 for the schools, reported Mrs. Miriam Richey of Delaware, executive secretary for the United Approach to Christian Higher Education.

Union Official Dies

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Edward Kiefer, secretary - treasurer and steward of the American Federation of Musicians local in Lorain, died Wednesday in Amherst Hospital of injuries received in an auto collision at Ohio 58 and North Ridge Road.

Rock and roll music has been banned from a Texas city's municipal auditorium, but the story girders doesn't say whether it's because of strong musical convictions or weak ones.

Search Moves To Chicago for Clerk's Killer

Other Leads Fizzle In Mystery Murder Of Consul's Secretary

NILES, Mich. (AP)—The search for the killer of Mrs. Marion Davenjay shifted today to Chicago where she worked as a secretary and office manager for the Canadian consul general.

Niles Police Chief Arthur N. Pears said he had asked Chicago police to question friends and associates of the 27-year-old brunette and check her activities up to the time of her death.

Leads Fizzle Out

All other leads in the killing have fizzled out, he said.

Two men and a woman, all magazine salesmen, were cleared of any implication Wednesday night after they underwent voluntary lie detector tests at South Bend, Ind., Pears said.

State police in East Lansing said neither of two guns brought in for ballistics tests was the murder weapon.

Both were 22 caliber guns, the type that felled Mrs. Davenjay early Sunday on the steps of the Club 66, a Niles night club.

One of the guns was a rifle found along a Berrien County Road. The other was a revolver owned by Gene McClane, 40-year-old magazine salesman from New York City and Mrs. Davenjay's escort the night of the killing.

McClane was one of the three given the lie test Wednesday. The others were Rita McGraw, 23, of Greensburgn Pa., and Dan McClellan, New York City.

Pears released all three. They left immediately for Norwalk, Ohio, to join other members of their magazine subscription team.

Death Ruled Homicide

A coroner's jury ruled Wednesday that Mrs. Davenjay's death was homicide. They said the pretty brunette was killed by a bullet "fired at close range by a person or persons unknown."

McClane testified he took Mrs. Davenjay to the Niles night club with McClellan and the latter's wife, Jane, Saturday night. Mrs. Davenjay left the club to buy some beer for the return trip to South Bend. She was shot as she returned to the night club.

Gerald A. Newman, Canadian deputy consul general and Mrs. Davenjay's immediate superior, attended the inquest. He did not testify but told William White, assistant Berrien County prosecutor, that Mrs. Davenjay's character was "exemplary."

Mrs. Davenjay had been separated from her husband Joseph. Police in New Orleans, where Davenjay lives, have cleared him in the slaying.

Funds Sought

YMCA Purchases Bus, Community Aid Asked

Another chapter has been written in the Cinderella story of the Marion YMCA bus, a story that began some six years ago when a group of friends of the "Y" accepted an unusual challenge from the board of directors.

The new chapter is a "new" used bus, not of the school bus variety used in the past but a big intercity type of highway unit that is expected to spark new interest in the YMCA travel projects.

"THE 'Y' HAS the new bus today only because a group of friends of the 'Y' again accepted a challenge...this time a challenge that they can not hope to meet without some help," Arthur L. Haas, general secretary, said today.

"Day camp starts soon ... many other 'Y' activities require the use of a bus ... and our old bus broke down completely returning from Washington a few weeks ago with the schoolboy patrol tour group," Mr. Haas said. "We had the promise of our youth committee and some of its friends to try to raise some money for a bus, but we had to start shopping right away or call off quite a bit of our program, including the summerlong day camp sessions which so many boys and girls have enjoyed for several years. The day camp pays for itself, including the cost of transportation, but naturally it isn't a big enough program to buy a new bus out of its proceeds."

The problem came to a head a few days ago when the "Y" had an opportunity to buy the new bus for $2,750, a figure that seemed a bargain to mechanics and everyone else concerned. A hurried meeting of the private group that had been preparing to raise some bus funds was held, the money was borrowed and the bus was bought.

"THE GROUP now preparing to raise the money for the bus actually gave the go ahead signal on the strength of their feeling that many other people, when they understood the situation, would have wanted this group to act in their behalf," Mr. Haas said. "There will be some letters in the mail in a few days to ask for donations to the bus fund ... if you don't happen to get one, and you wish to help with the bus project, we hope you'll send your check to us at the 'Y', earmarked for the bus fund."

The present bus is the third one bought by friends of the "Y", and is the first of the three to cost more than $300 to $400. Because of the low price of the earlier buses, they were repeatedly breaking down on the highway, stranding groups of Day Camp and other youths. Repairs have been costly. The last bus breakdown on a return trip from Washington was so complete that the "Y" had no choice but to junk the vehicle. Money from junking it, plus more than $700 of funds from the recent taffy sale have helped reduce the amount of money needed in the current appeal. Mr. Haas said the group helping to raise the bus funds is not a formally organized group, and that it preferred to remain anonymous.

Foreign Aid

Rayburn picked Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) to spearhead the bipartisan funds restoration drive with an amendment which would put 600 million dollars of the committee cut back in the bill.

Hays, a Foreign Affairs Committee member, said he understands the 600-million-dollar figure was advanced by Eisenhower himself and "this is one area in which I think we should value the President's recommendation.

Richards said a number of congressmen have told him they will vote against the bill altogether if the amount is increased.

He had on his side the parliamentary tradition that a cut already approved by the committee is usually upheld on the House Floor. On the other side were the weight of the administration and the influence of Rayburn.

In six hours of debate Wednesday, much opposition to the Eisenhower program came from members of the President's own party.

Rep. Mason (R-Ill) called it a "foreign giveaway program." Rep. Nicholson (R-Mass) said he was for "spending money for our own defense without taking care of these foreigners."

Rep. Flood (D-Pa) was practically a lone voice in calling for enactment of the full $4,900,000,000. But a number of others indicated they wanted at least part of the committee cut restored in the hope of stemming the tide of communism.

County Woman's Will Being Contested Here

A petition contesting a will has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Mary Coover of Springfield, and others, against Olive E. Miller, 569 S. Prospect St., and others.

The plaintiff claims that she and those whom she represents are the rightful heirs of Olive B. Schrote, who died Nov. 28, 1955. Her petition states that a writing, admitted to probate Dec. 8, 1955, purports to be the last will and testament of the deceased, and which make the defendant and others sole legatees and devisees.

The plaintiff wants a decision on whether or not the later writing is the last will and testament of the deceased and asks that it be set aside.

Britain Shutting Down Big Base at Scapa Flow

LONDON (AP) — Britain is shutting down its huge Scapa Flow naval base, in the Orkneys. A naval spokesman said the admiralty could not longer foresee sufficient use for the installations either in peace or in war to justify the expense of retaining them.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

One person was injured in one of six traffic accidents investigated Wednesday by Marion police. A train-truck collision was the only mishap reported by highway patrolmen.

Hurt when his motorcycle and a car collided at N. State and George Sts. at 3:42 p.m. was Harold D. Saunders, 36, of 138 St. Clair St. The car was driven by James D. Bishop, 21, of 593 N. Prospect St., police reported. He was traveling west on E. George St. and made a left turn into the path of the oncoming motorcycle, police said. Mr. Bishop told police he didn't see the motorcycle.

Taken to Marion General Hospital in the Boyd Ambulance Mr. Saunders was admitted for treatment of a back injury and his condition today is reported to be "fairly good."

Two of the accidents were hit-skips, with one resulting in an arrest.

Charged with leaving the scene of an accident in the 500 block on E. Center St. was J. S. Shape, 36, of Sidney, O. He was accused of striking a car owned by John Bird, 37, of 585 E. Center St. at 1:30 a.m. Taken to Marion Municipal Court Wednesday morning, Shape was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to five days in jail and his driver's license was suspended for three years.

From evidence found at the scene of the accident, police knew the make and model of the car which had hit the parked car, and went on a search for it. They found a car answering the description parked at an E. Center St. service station and learned that it was owned by Mr. Shape.

The other hit-skip accident occurred at 5:05 p.m. on Silver St. An undentified car struck a car parked in front of his residence and owned by Carl Persinger of 259 Silver St., police reported.

A collision in the 1000 block on Cheney Ave. at 4:11 p.m. involved cars driven by Charles A. Howell, 39, of LaRue and M. B. Young, 57, of near Marion, police said.

Cars driven by A. M. Osches, 29, of 585½ E. Center St. and Ralph Parson Jr., 20, of 233 Ballentine Ave. were involved in an accident at W. Center St. and the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing at 6:58 a.m., police reported.

The only other accident in the city caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Train Strikes Truck

A tractor-trailer rig was struck by an Erie Railroad freight train at a crossing of the Erie tracks and State Route 100 1.8 miles north of U.S. Route 30-S and east of Marion Wednesday at 9 p.m., according to the highway patrol.

There was no one injured, the patrol said, but the front of the engine, a diesel, was moderately damaged and the trailer of the truck and a road grader being carried on the truck had extensive damage.

According to the patrol, the truck owned by John Eldred and driven by Cecil Lepley, 23, both of near Glenmont, stalled as it was going over the crossing.

Unable to get the truck motor started again, and aware of the approaching train, the driver, Lepley, tried to flag down the freight. The train was unable to stop in time, however, to avoid hitting the truck broadside.

George Hultz, 61, of 848 Sheridan Rd. was the engineer of the train.

Four Cars Collide In Single Mishap

Four cars, all headed in the same direction were involved in an accident that occurred on U.S. Route 42 in Morrow County Wednesday when the last car in the line rammed into the rear of the one ahead as the procession was slowing to a stop. There were no injuries nor any arrests, according to highway patrolmen from Marion who investigated the accident.

The incident happened just north of the Mount Gilead corporation line at 12:30 p.m. Marie A. Slavik, 42, of Mount Gilead was the driver of the first car that slowed to a stop on the highway. She was headed north.

Cars immediately behind her were driven by Gene A. Papes, 18, of Willowick, O. and Richard B. Doner, 21, of Mansfield. Papes and Doner started to slow down behind the Slavik auto when Doner, the third in the procession, was struck from behind by a car driven by Jerry A. Conditt, 20, of Fort Worth, Tex.

The impact drove Doner's car into the rear of Papes' vehicle, and that car was pushed into the rear of the Slavik auto which had stopped. All of the cars were damaged slightly.

County Man Has Heart Attack, Dies in His Car

Wildair Luther Corn, 79, near Marion, suffered a heart attack and died about noon Wednesday while driving his car in Columbus, according to the Columbus Police Department.

The body was taken to the Franklin County morgue pending notification of relatives, according to the report. A son has been contacted in Wellston, O.

ADLAI WINS IN CALIFORNIA. Happy Adlai Stevenson faces campaign workers at Los Angeles, Calif., as returns in state's primary indicated he was favored for the Democratic presidential nomination. He is flanked by Pat Brown (right), campaign manager in California. Stevenson won all of state's 68 delegates.

Adlai Has 266, Kefauver 166, Others 306 in Pledged Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-eight states, including all those selecting by primaries, have now chosen Democratic National Convention delegates. They will cast 1,108 votes.

With 686½ convention votes needed for a presidential nomination out of a total vote of 1,372, the latest Associated Press tabulation of pledged votes and first-ballot preferences expressed in polls showed today:

Adlai Stevenson	266
Estes Kefauver	166
Others	306
Uncommitted	370
Total	1,108

The "others" column covers 11 individuals, the five top men being Gov. Averell Harriman, 93, including 80 won in New York Tuesday; Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, 56½; Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio, 54; Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, 46; and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, 44.

Ten states and three territories still must name delegates with 252 votes. New York also has delegates-at-large with 12 votes yet to select. Even if all the remaining 264 votes went to Stevenson he still would be far from a majority. His supporters, as well as Harriman backers, see prospects for picking up many more votes for their candidates in the now uncommitted column.

The 10 states still to name delegates are Arkansas, Arizona, Colrado, Connecticut, Kentucky, Mississippi, New Mexico, Tennessee, Virginia and Washington, Hawaii, Canal Zone and Virgin Islands also have not yet selected.

Forty states have named Republican delegates with 1,121 national convention votes out of a total of 1,323. President Eisenhower has 960 delegates favoring his renomination with only 662 needed. He also has 70 others being held for him by favorite sons in Ohio and Montana. One favors Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, and 90 are uncommitted.

She Quit Red Party Because Of Love, Woman Tells House

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Ann Yasgur Kling told congressional investigators Wednesday she quit the Communist party in 1947 because of "a young man with whom I feel in love."

"He strongly disapproved of the Communist party and its teachings," she explained. "I just stopped going to meetings."

Witness in Inquiry

The 34-year-old housewife was a witness before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The group, headed by Rep. Moulder (D-Mo), is holding hearings on the extent of Communist activities in the St. Louis area.

Mrs. Kling did not identify the young man. However, the St. Louis Globe - Democrat said her husband told the paper she was referring to him.

Mrs. Kling did not resort to the Fifth Amendment, as have most of those called to testify before the committee.

She said she was a member of the Young Communist League at the University of Missouri, where she was graduated in 1944.

She said she worked in the party's district office in St.Louis from the winter of 1945 to the winter of 1946.

She acknowledged she is a sister-in-law of Ralph Shaw, identified by an earlier witness as a former Communist party chairman for Missouri.

But she balked when asked to name some of her associates in the party.

"I have nothing to coneal," she said, "but I am not a tattle-tale. I don't want to snitch on anybody."

Thinks Party a Joke

Rep. Moulder asked her what she thinks of the Communist party now.

"I think the Communist party in this country has become sort of a joke," she said.

Mrs. Kling, a short, dark-haired woman, is the wife of a professor at Washington University in St. Louis.

Seven other witnesses interviewed by the committee Wednesday refused to answer questions, taking refuge in the Fifth Amendment's provision against evidence that is self-incriminating.

Dr. Sol Londe, 52-year-old pediatrician in suburban University City, refused to answer when asked if he had organized a professional group as a member of the party.

Committee members recommended contempt citations be sought against Mrs. William Henry Holland, 25, and William Edward Davis, 35, when they refused to testify.

A committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. George Bosley Jr., representing Marion County Granges; Carol Harriman, 4-H Clubs and Mrs. W. D. Busch, vocational home economics, was chosen to formulate a questionnaire to be distributed to members of the several rural organizations on precisely what the proposed building should include with regard to rooms and additional space.

In addition, Marion Clark, representing the Marion County Council of Cooperatives, and E. R. Parrott were appointed to contact Ralph Carbart, county prosecutor, with regard to the legal aspects of incorporating the new building.

REPORTS OF these committees are expected to be ready by July 18, when the group holds its next meeting in the extension office. It is hoped that some tangible progress for building a youth center can be gotten under way by county fair time in mid-August.

The following persons have been chosen to represent the county rural groups and other organizations; Burdette Hunter and Mr. Parrott, vocational agriculture; Jack Sims and Kenneth Hedges, Farm Bureau; Robert Hill, Junior Fair Board; Mr. Hinaman and Carol Harriman, 4-H; Mr. Mills, county schools; Jack Lautenslager, Marion Chamber of Commerce; Richard Baldinger and Joe Vogel, Marion County Agricultural Society; Mrs. Arthur Knickel, Home Council; Mrs. Carl Seiter, Farm Bureau Woman's Committee; Mr. and Mrs. Bosley, Marion County Granges; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams, Marion County school board; Kenneth Kinsler, Marion County Council of Cooperatives; Mrs. Busch, vocational home economics; and Rev. A. E. Clark, rural minister

The Junior Fair Board, at a recent meeting, voted to donate $50 to the Marion County Rural Life Center group to be used for postage and other printing and advertising in the initial effort to get the project under way.

$77,341 Damage Claim Being Heard by Court

The $77,341 damage suit filed Feb. 11, 1955, by Harry Sells of Columbus, on behalf of his daughter Katharina Sells, an infant, against Mary Ireland, of near Edison, guardian of Roy D. Ireland, near Edison, an alleged incompetent, began in Common Pleas Court this morning, with Judge Paul D. Smith on the bench.

The suit is the result of an automobile accident about 5:30 p.m. Aug. 15, 1954 at the intersection of Routes 37 and 30-S four miles west of Meeker in which the plaintiff allegedly suffered serious and permanent injuries when the car in which she was riding was allegedly struck broadside by a vehicle driven by the defendant.

GOP Cheered By Ike's Huge California Vote

Democratic Leaders View Showing as Best Since New Deal Days

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Eisenhower's million-plus Republican vote in the California presidential primary raised a strong challenge today to Democratic hopes for carrying the state in November.

Adlai Stevenson went over the million mark too in trouncing Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee on the Democratic ticket. But Eisenhower, unopposed, came out of Tuesday's strictly party balloting with a higher tally.

Republican leaders got an extra glow from two factors: registered Democrats outnumber Republicans by 782,000 and no campaign at all was waged in behalf of the 70-delegate slate pledged to Eisenhower for the GOP National Convention.

Democratic leaders interpreted their party's showing in congressional and legislative races — their best since New Deal days — as an upsurge in their direction. Legislative control won't be settled until November, however.

Stevenson's 5-3 victory over Kefauver for 68 national convention votes brought speculation that Kefauver might seek a tie-up with New York Gov. Averell Harriman in the scramble for the presidential nomination.

Stevenson himself said he now considers Harriman his strongest rival.

Nearly complete returns from California's 24,160 precincts gave:

Democratic, 21,746 precincts: Stevenson 1,041,303, Kefauver 626,030.

Republican, 20,877 precincts: Eisenhower 1,165,535.

The total vote was estimated as close to 60 per cent of the 5½ million registration, including 3,059,873 Democrats and 2,277,530 Republicans.

Police Expecting 1,500 for Dance

Some 1,500 persons are expected to attend the annual policeman's dance to be held at the Crystal Lake Pavilion June 16, Lew W. Shadaker, publicity chairman said today.

Several hundred tickets already have been sold and more are being sold every day, he said.

The dance, sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police, Marion County Lodge 24, is held each spring to raise funds for use of the lodge in various civic and lodge activities.

Music for the dance this spring will be provided by Cliff Lash and his orchestra of WLW-TV fame.

Mr. Shadaker said that all plans for the affair have been completed and that tickets are available from any policeman or at the police station and they also will be sold at the door the night of the dance. Tickets are $2 a person.

General chairman for the affair is Capt. Marion B. Tatham.

Work on New Drive Is Nearing Completion

Paving of the Greenlea Dr. in the new Greenlea Homesites first addition southeast of Marion on State Route 529 is nearing completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Rehl are opening the development, which lies just south of their home on 529. The addition is about one and one-half miles south of the city limits. It contains sites for nine homes.

Work on the drive is expected to be completed this week. Work on installing sewers and drain tile has been completed, Mrs. Rehl reported.

Liquor Chief To Follow Up Ban of Pinballs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Liquor Director William C. Bryant said today plans will be mapped Monday for effecting in taverns the State Supreme Court's ban on pinball machines which pay off with free plays.

Bryant said he will meet with other state officials to decide "the most dynamic action which can be taken in the shortest length of time."

The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that a pinball machine which pays off with free plays is an illegal gambling device. Bryant hailed the decision as "the tool we have needed to clean up" pinball machines in liquor spots.

He said he will meet Monday with James Videan and Kiehner Johnson, assistant attorney generals, and liquor enforcement chief Max Rosenblum.

Man Is Fined $200, Jailed on Hit-Skip Count

A New Bloomington man was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Marion County jail in Marion Municipal Court today when he pleaded guilty to a hit-skip driving charge.

Kenneth Oliver, 30, was arrested at his home Wednesday afternoon after city patrolman Floyd Wilson and a sheriff's deputy went to investigate a report his car had been stolen Saturday night, was involved in an accident and returned to his residence early Sunday.

In a signed statement given to Patrolman Wilson, Oliver said that he sent his wife to the sheriff's office and state highway patrol Tuesday morning to report the car stolen but it actually was not.

He said he and a friend went to LaRue about 9 p.m. Saturday night and between 9 and 10 p.m. each drank about 15 bottles of beer in a place there. The friend drove him home, Oliver said, and he got his own car and drove it to Marion striking the car on Bennett St. He said he stopped, got out and looked around then drove off when he saw a man standing on the sidewalk, according to his signed statement.

Police investigating the accident identified the hit-skip car as a green 1949 sedan and found parts from it at the scene. In checking Oliver's car at his residence yesterday afternoon, they found that the same parts were missing from his car. The parked car was owned by E. C. Waugh of 879 Bennett St.

Police said that Oliver also was driving while his license to drive was under revocation.

Study of Parking Garage Postponed

A meeting scheduled at the Marion Chamber of Commerce offices Wednesday to discuss the feasibility of a pigeon-hole parking garage for Marion has been rescheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday, June 13.

Yesterday's meeting was canceled late Tuesday when it was learned that a representative of the firm which builds the garages could not be in Marion for the meeting.

Inquiry into the construction of such a garage in the city is being made by the parking committee of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber as a part of its studies on provision of more off-street parking facilities in the city.

Truman Says He Is Glad Stevenson Defeated Kefauver

BONN, Germany. (AP) — Former President Truman said today he is "glad" that Adlai Stevenson defeated Sen. Estes Kefauver in the Democratic primary in California.

Arriving in Bonn for a one-day visit with West German leaders, Truman said Stevenson's victory was "good news."

But Truman said he had "no comment" on a report from New York that Stevenson had picked up several delegates in New York State. New York's Gov. Averell Harriman is a self - styled "inactive" candidate for the Democratic presidental nomination, and there have been widespread rumors that Truman would like to see hum get the nod.

In answer to a question, the ex-president said he doesn't believe the California win assures Stevenson the Democratic nomination.

"I won't know until the convention meets," he declared. "I have no candidate and no favorite."

Molotov

By George Sokolsky

When Stalin was on the verge of making his secret treaty with Hitler in 1939, he dismissed Maxim Litvinov as Minister of Foreign Affairs. Litvinov was a Jew married to an Englishwoman. Stalin showed his goodwill toward Hitler, the self-proclaimed anti-Semite, by not having Litvinov, the Jew, in his entourage. This is carrying realism above self-respect.

SOKOLSKY

When the pact between Stalin and Hitler was arranged, it was called the Ribbentrop - Molotov Agreement. It was one of the most disgraceful documents in human history.

-:-

SIMILARLY, WHEN Khruschev was about to receive Tito as Soviet Russia's most honored guest, he felt it necessary to get rid of Molotov, Stalin's Minister of Foreign Affairs, on and off for 17 years.

Molotov and Tito had been enemies in the Third International but Tito cannot be angry at Molotov who only carried out Stalin's orders. Therefore Molotov's dismissal is more symbolic than important.

The quarrel had been over the fundamental question of nationalism within the world Communist movement. As long as Stalin was alive, he put down such nationalist movements with a heavy heel.

Khrushchev has reversed the Stalinist policy and therefore it is possible for Tito to reverse himself also and return to the bosom of the Kremlin, where he was not only welcomed by Khruschev who is his junior in the revolution but by Voroshilov who is his senior.

SO REALISM AGAIN prevails over self-respect and Molotov is given the Order of the Boot. In Stalin's time such changes were accompanied by purges and wholesale murders.

Molotov would probably by now be a dead man, having undoubtedly been forced openly to confess that he had entered into a secret deal with Chiang Kai-shek to make John Foster Dulles president of Guatemala which is not as ridiculous as it sounds, because stranger confessions were made during the purge trials.

Today, it is so different. Under the theory of collective leadership, it is no longer wise nor necessary to kill anyone. Live and let live is the new doctrine.

So Malenkov not only lives but goes to England where he was as popular as Khrushchev was boorish, and Molotov too is permitted to live and to hold office. Perhaps he will one day write a biography of Andrei Vishinsky, the Menshevik, who taught Stalin how to destroy his opposition and thereby earned not only a living, but life for himself.

MOLOTOV IS ONE of the oldest Bolsheviks remaining in the government. There is, of course, Voroshilov, who acts as a sort of President of Soviet Russia which is an honorary and ornamental position; and there is Kaganovich, who is not only an old Bolshevik but also a Jew — the only Jew in the government.

Kaganovich has managed to outlive all the purges and trials and changes in the Soviet government and he seems to be just as important in the Khrushchev regime as he was with Stalin. However, he is growing old.

Time passes on and it will soon be 40 years since Lenin and Trotzky, with headquarters in the Smolny Institute, a school for girls of the aristocracy, seized power in Russia and established themselves as a government.

DURING A 40-YEAR period, a generation dies off, even if it is not killed off, and new generations emerge.

Those who had been associated with Lenin and Trotzky had been bitter revolutionists who had known imprisonment and exile and intense suffering for what they believed to be humanistic ideals.

Their descendants had mostly lived under Bolshevism and as we approach the grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the revolution, we see those who have never known any other way of life but the socialism of the Soviet regime.

These younger generations have been taught in school and college, over the radio and in the newspapers, that the greatest man that ever lived was Stalin.

AND THEY HAVE come to know that Stalin and his aide, Molotov, won great diplomatic victories over the United States, Great Britain, France and practically every other country on Earth.

Now they are being told that Stalin was, in reality, a good-for-nothing bum, and Molotov is fired to make Tito welcome without any Stalinists to disturb his peace of mind.

This must be very shocking to the nervous system of the younger Russians. They must wonder what is really the truth — even as you or I.

Marriage Laws

By William N. Oatis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — In Pakistan, a Moslem may have four wives and a Hindu any number. But in Tennessee a man can get 21 years in prison for having only two.

So says a lately published U N. survey of marriage and divorce laws in 24 countries. Such laws were studied because of their effect on population, a concern of the economic and social council. They show great diversity.

In Sweden, under ordinary circumstances, no man may marry under 21 years old nor woman under 18. In Argentina, Honduras, Panama and Northern Ireland, on the other hand, a boy may marry at 14 and a girl at 12, given parental consent. (The lowest minimum ages in the United States are 14 and 13, in New Hampshire).

THE REPORT states without elaboration, that in Queensland Australia, "where either party is under the age of 7, the marriage is absolutely void." It sets out that in the Netherlands, no person under 30 may marry without his parents' consent — though he may appeal to a justice of the peace if they stand in the way.

When a minor marries in Czechoslovakia, as he may do from 16 up with court approval, he immediately becomes an adult before the law with as many legal rights as any Czechoslovak citizen has.

Many countries define in great detail the degrees of relationship within which marriages are prohibited. India expressly forbids a man to marry his great grandmother.

White people are barred from marrying Negroes in over half the states of the United States; Mongolians in 11; Malayans in 6; American Indians in 4. White people may not marry Koreans in South Dakota and Hindus in Arizona.

—:—

SWEDEN ALLOWS the marriage of prisoners. Pakistan forbids the marriage of Shia-Moslem pilgrims who have entered the sacred territory of Mecca.

In Ontario, Canada, a clergyman can be fined $500 and jailed for a year if he marries a man and woman who are drunk.

France penalizes the sale of contraceptives with prison terms up to three years. Eight states in the United States also forbid their sale. Connecticut forbids their use. But Alabama, Florida, South Carolina and Virginia finance birth-control programs.

Installation Event Held by BPW Club

Installation of officers for the Business and Professional Women's Club, headed by Miss Mary K. Miley as president, was held at a dinner meeting Wednesday night at the YMCA and the retiring president, Miss Clara Alice Wilson was honored. The ceremoney was conducted by Mrs. Mary Grubaugh of Granville, director of BPW District 6. As a "stand-in" for Miss Miley who was ill, Miss LaVern Lash was installed president by proxy.

Others taking office were Miss Janet Geddis, vice president; Miss Elaine Ballinger, recording secretary; Miss Kathryn Lusch, corresponding secretary, and Miss Margaret Craig, treasurer. Corsages from the club were presented Mrs. Grubaugh and each officer.

Two committees, news service and national defense, were in charge of the meeting with Mrs. Evelyn Sharp and Mrs. Madeline Tatham as co-chairmen. Preceding dinner the club collect was read by Mrs. Nellie Thomas. Decorations were candles and a centerpiece and bouquets of spring flowers.

Reports on the state convention held recently at Toledo were given by Miss Garnet Laird, Miss Geddis and Miss Wilson. Introduced as guests were Miss Dorothy Hilbert and Miss Gladys Lavin.

As a special feature, the outgoing president was the central figure of a surprise "This Is Your Life" skit prepared by the past presidents, Miss Miley, who was president of the club when it first entered the state and national federations of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Miss Lash, Miss Mary Martha Luke and Mrs. Lois Jean Barnhouse. They were assisted in the presentation by Miss Marjorie Williams, Mrs. Mary Rogers, Miss Geddis, Mrs. Verna Osborn and parents of Miss Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilson. She was given the past president's pin and a gift from the club. This will be the last regularly scheduled dinner meeting until fall.

This won't be such a dull campaign after all; already the issue if whether any of the issues are really issues is emerging as the No. 1 issue.

4-H Club News

Art Houtteman Nails First Decision of Campaign

Narleski Chokes Off Rally In 5-1 Win by Cleveland

BALTIMORE (AP)—Al Lopez beleves a major league baseball manager can contribute only two things to a team—inspiration and handling of pitchers.

The Cleveland Indians' manager gave a good example of the latter Wednesday night.

Art Houtteman, once a pitcher feared by American League batters, had been called on for only 13 innings of pitching in 43 games this season.

Lopez selected him to start after Herb Score, new sensation, developed a stomach upset. And Houtteman posted his first victory, beating the Baltimore Orioles 5-1.

Houtteman had the Orioles stopped with five hits into the sixth inning and was leading 5-0, then came two singles. Gus Triandos, long ball hitter, put two foul balls close to home run territory.

Out from the dugout trotted Lopez. Houtteman admitted he felt a slight soreness in his left shoulder—not the pitching one. Lopez signalled in Ray Narleski, ace relief hurler. He put a third strike past Triandos.

The Tribe got seven hits off loser Connie Johnson in eight innings and none off Hector (Skinny) Brown in the ninth. A walk and singles by Al Rosen and Rocky Colavito scored the first Tribe run home in that rally when Earl Averill singled.

In the fifth inning two walks, doubles by Al Smith and Rosen and a sacrifice fly added up to three more runs.

The final of the three-game series today will have Cal McLish (1-1) on the mound for the Tribe, and Bill Wight (2-5), an ex-Indian hurling for the Orioles.

Herb Score Will Miss Series Against Yanks

BALTIMORE (AP)—Doctors said today Herb Score, fireballing pitcher of the Cleveland Indians, will miss the coming series against the New York Yankees and it is "only a possibility" he may be able to rejoin the Indians Monday in Boston.

The hurler's ailment was diagnosed as "an inflammation of the colon," a condition which was not considered serious.

Manager Al Lopez is being advised it would be best to permit Score to remain here for a "few days rest."

Cardington Horse Wins at Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—The Souvenir, owned and driven by Al Coder of Cardington, edged out a victory in the featured Class CC trot at the Lebanon Raceway Wednesday night as the heavily favored Colonel Pal broke stride coming down the stretch.

The Souvenir had taken the lead at the halfway mark but Colonel Pal, owned and driven by Harry Sanner of Elida, was closing the gap when he broke.

The Souvenir set a new time mark for himself by winning in 2:09 4-5. He paid $15.60, $7.60 and $6.20.

Local Archery Club Opening Home Grounds

The Marion Black Feather Bowmen continue their summer schedule Sunday with a 56-target Hunters round at the club range after officially opening the range last Sunday.

E. J. Leadenham took the Expert Class Sunday with a 533 total. Henry Smith was second with 528. In the Bowman class, Wesley Beckley was first with a 466 tally and Scott Ferguson second with 403.

Bob Peifer with a 325 score won the Archers class. Art Utley followed him with 296. Billie Smith with a 355 effort and Paula Andrinie with 338 were one-two in the women's division.

The local club recently took part in an invitational meet at Sandusky, with several members capturing honors.

Alton Roach was third in the Expert B class and carried home a trophy. Billie Smith, third in the women's division, also won a trophy. Dr. Richard Eicher is to receive a 20 pin for scoring 20 points on a target over 60 yards away.

The Black Feather Bowmen range opened last Sunday after a month of work and officers and committees are announcing the range is open to members and guests and thanking members for their assistance in working the range into shape.

The local club invites members and guests to attend the shoot scheduled this Sunday.

Begins Monday

Marion YMCA To Open Summertime Schedule

The Marion YMCA today issued its last announcement for the summer youth swimming program slated to get under way at the local Association June 11. The program will continue its summer timetable until Sept. 1.

Highlighting the summer program will be swimming instruction for boys and girls as well as plunge periods for free play. There also will be unusual programs such as the Mask and Fin Club for the more advanced swimmers and the possibility of a water polo league.

—:—

"DURING THE summer months the Marion YMCA puts all its emphasis on teaching the children and adults of the community how to swim. We feel that this is one of the most important items of program we have to offer and therefore dedicate this time of the year which is especially condusive to swimming to making our members better swimmers and teaching them the fundamentals of Water Safety," Dean Ludwig, physical director, said.

The girls groups will be together on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday throughout the summer.

On Monday the girls new beginners will meet at 9:30, the advanced beginners at 10, the fish group at 10:30 and the flying fish class at 11, while the Shark group will hold class at 11:30. On Wednesday and Friday the beginners will meet at 10 and the advanced at 11. Junior and senior high girls will meet on the same days at 3 p.m.

The boys groups will follow much the same pattern, meeting on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The new beginners will meet on Tuesday at 9:30, the advanced beginners at 10, the fish club at 10:30, the flying fish at 11, and the Shark group at 1130. Junior and senior high boys will get together on these same days at 1 p.m.

Other youth programs, will see the Junior Marlins meeting on Tuesday and Thursday at 3 p.m. and the Mask and Fin Club according to appointment on Monday, Wednesday or Friday at Vance Lake. The outpost groups from the local association, which are cosponsored by the Rotary, Y-Mens, and Kiwanis Clubs, will have separate appointed sessions at various playgrounds throughout the city with a common swimming period on Saturday at 3 p.m. The handicapped class under the instruction of Gene Ruppart will hold its meetings on Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p.m.

THE ANNUAL summer program in wrestling will meet on announcement later in the summer. It is urged that youths attending these classes be prompt in getting to the various sessions. This is extremely necessary due to the difficulty of instruction with persons entering continually who are not on time.

Basilio Battle Moved To Dayton's Speedway

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The 10-round bout between ex-welterweight champion Carmen Basilio and Cuba's Felix Machado will be held June 18 at the Dayton Motor Speedway.

Previously it had been scheduled for both June 9 and June 16 at the Hobart Arena in Troy.

A record number of 7-10 splits (136) were made during the American Bowling Congress tournament at Rochester, N.Y., this year. The previous record was 79, set in 1955.

Reds Win, Remain on Bucs' Heels

CINCINNATI (AP) — Everyone keeps talking about the surprising Pittsburgh Pirates, but how about the Cincinnati Redlegs?

They have been buried in the National League's second division for even a longer time than Pittsburgh but a power-laden lineup has boomed them into a virtual tie with the Pirates for the National League lead. They're only four percentage points back of the Bucs.

Cincinnati hasn't finished out of the second division since 1944 while the Pirates managed to get up as high as fourth in 1945 and 1948.

Shell-shocked National League pitchers can attest to the power that is packed in the Redleg lineup.

Everyone knew there was a lot of potential hitting when the season started but most observers figured it couldn't make up for a shaky pitching staff.

The Reds lost five of their first six games but then the power boys began to find the range, the pitching looked better than anyone expected and that fancy-fielding second base-shortstop combination of Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan started reeling off double plays.

But it's the hitting that is wrecking opposing teams.

Starting with rookie Frank Robinson, who bats second, here has been the home run output of five batters in a row—Robinson 12, Gus Bell 12, Ted Kluszewski 9, Wally Post 13 and Ray Jablonski 11.

Catcher Ed Bailey who crowded the veteran Smokey Burgess out of the starting lineup, usually is next up and he has 6 homers.

Blasts by Robinson and Bell Wednesday night were the big blows in a 7-3 verdict over Philadelphia.

Their consecutive home runs drove in four runs before Manager Mayo Smith of the Phils took pitcher Stu Miller out of the game.

Miller had allowed only two hits and had retired 15 Cincinnati batters in a row when the storm struck.

Reliefer Bob Miller gave up two more Cincinnati runs in the eighth, Roy McMillan driving them in with a double.

Wins 4th Straight

Dodgers' Sluggers Slump, Hill Staff Takes Up Slack

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

So the Pittsburgh Pirates win five of seven and Cincinnati wins five of six and St.Louis takes four of five. But how about those Brooklyns? They win four straight the hard way—with Roy Campanella in a slump.

Campy, three times the National League's most valuable player, is hitting .230, without a home run since May 3, no extra base hit since May 15 and no run batted in since May 22. This can't be what the world champions had in mind when they made him the highest paid Dodger yet with a $42,500 contract.

What's more, the big catcher isn't alone. Duke Snider, at .305, and Randy Jackson, at .351, are the only Brook regulars hitting over .300. And Jackson just made the first string six days ago, taking over third base from Jackie Robinson (.228).

Complete Sweep

What's the answer? Pitching.

The Dodgers made a sweep of a three-game set at Milwaukee Wednesday night with Don Newcombe's five-hitter beating the of seven, had only 10 hits in the Braves 5-2. Milwaukee, losing six of seven, had only 10 hits in the series, as the Dodgers got three complete games from their pitching staff.

Sal Maglie three-hit the Braves Monday 3-0. Roger Craig two-hit 'em Tuesday 6-1. And then came Newk, winning his eighth. The three right-handers gave up just one walk apiece, and struck out 14.

Brooklyn now is but 8 percentage points shy of the fourth-place Braves. Both are two games behind first-place Pittsburgh, which walloped the Chicago Cubs 8-2. Cincinnati, 4 points back, smacked Philadelphia 7-3. And St.Louis, 4 points farther back, cracked New York 3-2 in 11 innings.

The American League got back to normal. Boston ended Detroit's winning streak at seven games 5-4 and the New York Yankees kept their 3½-game lead by breaking their four-game losing string 10-5 against Kansas City. Cleveland remained in second, beating Baltimore 5-1. Chicago's White Sox lost at Washington 12-7.

Both Milwaukee runs were unearned, coming on Hank Aaron's seventh homer after a two-out error in the first. Snider hit his 10th homer in the top of the first, then the Dodgers added one in the third and scored the clincher in the fifth when Jackson walked with the bases loaded. Gene Conley (1-2) was the loser.

A three-run homer by Frank Robinson and a solo shot by Gus Bell, both in the seventh inning, brought the Redlegs from behind and gave unbeaten Brooks Lawrence his seventh victory. Stu Miller was the loser.

Wins in Ninth

The Cards tied it 2-all with a run after two were out in the ninth, then nailed it on Jackie Brandt's double off reliefer Johnny Antonelli. Hoyt Wilhelm, third Giant pitcher, was the loser. Ellis Kinder won it.

Dale Long, Frank Thomas and Roberto Clemente homered for the Bucs as Ron Kline won his fifth and Paul Minner lost his fifth.

Three runs in the eighth cracked Detroit's string as Sammy White hit his second two-run single of the game to beat Paul Foytack. Tom Brewer won his eighth, with Ike Delock's help in a two-run Tiger ninth.

Yogi Berra's 15th homer and Bill Skowron's second helped the Yanks, who chased Tom LaSorda with an 8-0 edge by the third. Bob Grim won with Tommy Byrne's relief.

Cleveland bunched five of its seven hits in the fourth and fifth off Connie Johnson to score all its runs. Art Houtteman, leaving with a sore shoulder in the sixth, and Ray Narleski blanked the Birds for 8 2-3 innings.

Washington beat Chicago a second straight time with 15 hits, including third-inning homers by Whitey Herzog and Carlos Paula.

Clips Eaton 3-2

Huber-Warco Nine Grabs Lead in Industrial League

Huber-Warco moved into first place in Industrial League No. 2 softball action Wednesday night at Garfield Park, clipping Eaton 3-2.

In other games last night, Local 1949 rolled past General Telephone 16-7 and Marion Engineer Depot blasted Fairfield 18-0.

Huber-Warco and eaton hooked up in a scoreless struggle for the first five innings before Eaton pushed over a pair of markers in the top of the sixth for a 2-0 lead. The winners came back in the bottom of that inning to knot the score on hits by Wilson, McGinnis and Miley and a base on balls for two markers. In the bottom of the seventh, Williams drew a base on balls and came home on singles by Millisor and Hankison.

Fats Millisor was on the mound for the winners, giving up six hits. Gorham was the losing pitcher. Ted Anderson, Huber catcher, banged out a single in the first inning and Gorham then blanked the winners until the sixth-inning uprisng.

General Telephone held a 4-2 lead after the first three innings against Local 1949 before the Union men exploded The winners tallied five runs in the fourth and added three each in the fifth, sixth and seventh. Green went all the way on the mound for the whiners while Dalton was the losing hurler.

The 18-0 lacing absorbed by Fairfield was that team's first set-back and dropped it a full game behind the league leaders. The win evened the Depot record at two wins against a pair of losses.

Jets, Toronto In Even Break

By The Associated Press

Nap Reyes, a sparkplug in his major league days with the New York Giants, apparently has instilled some of his enthusiasm into the Havana Sugar Kings of the International League.

Buried deep in the cellar when Reyes replaced Regi Otero as manager two days ago, the Cubans suddenly have come to life.

While southpaw Pat Scantlebury was pitching a four-hitter, the Cubans pounded out 18 hits to defeat the Buffalo Bisons 13-0 Wednesday night and move within 1½ games of sixth place. The Cubans have smashed 30 hits in two games since Reyes took over as manager.

Meantime, Manager Eddie Lopat of the Richmond Virginians dropped his third game in seven decisions as the league leading Montreal Royals thumped his Virginians 10-2.

Home runs played a big factor in the doubleheader split by Columbus and Toronto. The Maple Leafs won the opener 10-3 with four homers. Mike Goliat came through with a grand slam homer. The Jets won the second 9-6 with Al Pilarick deciding the issue in the 11th with a 3-run homer after two were out.

Rochester and Miami were rained out.

Lanzo Agrees To Pay $9,000 for Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Mario Lanza has settled for $9,000 a $40,000 suit filed against him for damage to an estate he leased.

A stipulation provides that Lanza will make full payment within 180 days to Mrs. Norman Kaiser, owner of the Bel-Air property.

Mrs. Kaiser said the Lanzas marred and scarred wall and floor coverings and ceilings, besides damaging the grounds.

County Bank, Isaly Clubs in Diamond Wins

Marion County Bank continued its supremacy in the American loop Wednesday night as a pair of two-hit performances highlighted Little League play.

The County Bankers, with Gary Warner chucking, blanked Mac's Trading Post 7-0 and Isaly's John Gilbert came back to match Warner's performance in the nightcap in an 8-1 triumph over National City Bank.

It was Marion County Bank's fifth straight American Loop victory, giving it a two-game bulge over Isaly which took over the runnerup slot at 3-2.

Warner held Mac's to hits by Billy Davis and David Pinkerton in the fourth and sixth frames as he whiffed 12 and walked three.

Three runs in the opening frame, highlighted by a homer by warner, proved to be the necessary margin. The Bankers added two-run clusters in the second and fifth innings.

The winners used only five hits off George Carpenter of Mac's in achieving the victory. However, two of the hits were home runs, with Larry Sims hitting the second Banker homer in the second. Carpenter fanned seven and walked two.

Gilbert struck out six, walked one and hit a batsman in setting National City Bank down on two hits in the nightcap. He was deprived of a shutout in the final frame when Anthony Britz reached him for a lead-off hit and later scored.

Gilbert surrendered the other Banker hit in the second, a single by Moses Thomas.

The winners banged out a 10-hit attack off Craft of National City. One run in the second, three in the third and four in the fourth constituted their scoring. Craft fanned three and walked five.

Gilbert pounded out three hits including a homer to also star at the plate. Paul Alexander, Chuck Paulas, Ricky Ishida and Cliff Mulvaine all had two hits.

Cook Fired as Coach Of Cleveland Barons

CLEVELAND (AP)—After his first losing season in 13 years, Fred (Bun) Cook has been fired as coach of the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

The club asked for his resignation six weeks ago, the 52-year-old Cook told the Cleveland Plain Dealer in a telephone conversation Wednesday from his home in Kingston, Ont.

"I suppose you have to expect such things," he said. "I guess I'm like an elderly salesman, and they decided it was time to make a change."

General Manager Jim Hendy, en route home from Montreal after the annual draft meeting, was unavailable for comment. No successor to Cook has been announced.

In Cook's 13 years as coach, the Barons won seven league championships and five Calder cups. They won 488, tied 83, and lost 276 games, exclusive of playoffs.

Last season the Barons won 26, tied 7 and lost 31, finishing fourth. In the playoffs they beat Pittsburgh in three overtime games, but lost four straight in the finals to Providence.

The Barons were under new ownership, with more than 100 stockholders. They acquired young talent, looking to a possible entry into the National League.

Alloy Remains Undefeated in Pony Contests

Alloy remained unbeaten following Pony League play at Lincoln Park Wednesday night.

Alloy made Clark Metal its fifth straight victim, 7-2, while G & G Homes pounded out a 14-6 verdict over VFW.

Five second inning markers proved to be Alloy's winning margin in last night's opener. The winners added two more in the next frame to conclude their scoring.

Clark was held to single tallies in the third and fourth frames and only four hits by Stan Larkin.

Larkin fanned nine and walked two.

Larry Ishida worked on the hill for Clark, allowing 13 hits, whiffing five and dishing out four free passes.

Phil Reid, Tom Evans and Flip Creviston, all with three hits, provided Alloy's batting punch. Larkin added two hits.

Eight big first inning runs carried G & G Homes to its victory over VFW.

Two-run clusters in the third, fifth and sixth frames rounded out their scoring.

Larry Kirby held the losers to five hits and whiffed three while walking five. He was tagged for one VFW tally in the first inning, four in the third and one in the seventh.

Stu Flesher started on the hill for VFW but Doug Beaver and John Holmes followed him to the mound. They gave up eight hits, struck out five and walked seven.

Jim Hindman had two hits for the winners.

AL Managers Hesitating on 'Mantle' Shift

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—"Let Boudreau get the credit—we'll try to get Mantle out honestly."

That was Detroit Manager Bucky Harris' blunt retort to a query whether he intended to follow the lead of Kansas City Manager Lou Boudreau, who has come up with a stunning right-side shift against Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' center field star.

Boudreau tried the maneuver, an exaggerated version of the "Ted Williams shift" which Lou concocted in 1946 while managing Cleveland, for the first time against Mantle in Tuesday night's game between the Yankees and Athletics.

Twice he threw it at Mantle and twice the switch hitter struck out after failing to lay down a bunt. The shift apparently has the young slugger upset.

Boudreau tried it again Wednesday on two occasions. Each time Mantle was retired, once on a fly to deep center field, the other time via a strikeout.

But other American League managers, along with Harris, were not quick to accept Boudreau's shift as the way to stop the Yankee slugger.

"He's not easy to shift on," said Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians. "Unlike Ted Williams, Mantle hits all over. The Williams' shift was to try to get him to think about hitting to left field. But Mantle isn't a pull hitter."

Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox said he plans at present to shift against Mantle.

"I'm thinking about putting a fielder in the stands," he quipped.

Mike Higgins of Boston's Red Sox said:

"He hits a lot to left field against us batting left-handed. We wouldn't be interestef in a shift of that kind at this time. How are you going to shift against a guy who hits the ball out of the park?"

Mantle hit one home run and a single in the two-game series against the Athletics, but neither was hit when the oversized shift was on. Against the shift, he went 0 for 4, striking out three times. Boudreau employed the shift only when the bases were empty.

Student Sues Teacher, Says He Punched Her

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Elin Griffiths Lattimer, 30-year-old senior at the University of California in Los Angeles, sued Dr. Donald A. Piatt for $10,000 Wednesday, alleging the philosophy professor punched her in the nose in an argument over Socrates and Plato.

S. M. Irmas Jr., Mrs. Lattimer's attorney, said she and the professor disagreed May 2 over which of the two ancient Greeks was the true philosopher.

Dr. Piatt declined to comment on the suit. He was willing to talk about Socrates, however.

"He made the people so angry they forced him to drink poison," Dr. Piatt said. "Just shows what happens when you tell the truth."

McGinnis Named to Coaching Post at New Ashtabula School

Dan McGinnis, 29-year-old Marion native, has been named head football and basketball coach at Ashtabula St. John, a new catholic high school.

He has been assistant coach at Newark St. Francis for the last two years. In his new post, McGinnis will be the first coach at the school and will be working under the four-year high school plan.

An enrollment of approximately 275 is expected during the 1956-57 school year at the new Ashtabula school. McGinnis was selected from a large field of candidates. He said the school would play an eight-game schedule next fall and indicated it would be several years before the new school applies for membership in any league.

Before moving to Newark two years ago, McGinnis was assistant coach at St. Mary, handling the reserve basketball squad for Coach Ray Robbins in 1953 and 1954.

A native of Marion, McGinnis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. McGinnis of 767 E. Center St. He was graduated from St. Mary High School in 1946 where he starred in football and basketball. He was graduated from Denison University in 1950 where he assisted Walter Reid with the grid squad which went undefeated in 1955 and 1956. He played two years of basketball at the Granville school.

In his Newark post, McGinnis has racked up several titles with his reserve and junior high school squads. The 1954-55 reserves won 18 of 20 games and shared the league title with Columbus St. Charles. Last year, the St. Francis junior high team nailed the Newark City League title with nine wins in 10 starts and copped the Newark Invitational tourney for the second straight year.

McGinnis is married and has two children, a daughter, 3½, and a year-old son.

Pleasant Crushes Claridon Nine 11-0

Pleasans buried Claridon under a 15-hit onslaught Wednesday night at Prospect Park for an 11-0 win in the Marion County Baseball League. The game was called after five innings due to a 10-run lead rule in the league.

The Pandas pounded out seven hits in the opening frame to pour six markers across the plate. They added five runs in the fifth inning on five base hits to end the contest.

Sharrel Leffler and Merl Dutt handled the pitching for the winners and limited the losers to one hit, a single by Fields, Claridon catcher.

John Peacock smashed four doubles in four trips to the plate for the winners. Leffler aided his own cause with a single, double and triple in three chances. Jeff Peacock, Don Miller and Massie each had two hits for the winners. It was the second win in league play for the Pleasant squad.

Disbarment Faces Steubenville Man

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Disbarment proceedings were filed Wednesday against Steubenville attorney Fred C. Jones in connection with alleged conversion of funds from an estate Jones was handling.

The petition was drawn up by attorneys appointed by Jefferson County Common Pleas Court. It charged that:

Jones drew a $4,000 check on the estate of William M. Davidson, which was being processed in Columbia County Probate Court; that he deposited the check in a Steubenville bank; and that he forged the name of Davidson's brother, B. Way Davidson, a Weirton Steel Co. employe, and drew the $4,000 out of the bank for his own use.

The brother was to have received the proceeds of the estate.

Jones, who had practiced law here since 1946, was given until July 1 to prepare his defense.

He was not immediately available for comment.

Passes Up Nelson

COLUMBUS, P—Manager Charley Dressen of the Senators says he turned down Montreal slugger Rocky Nelson in the annual draft because he believes Roy Sievers will be Washington's regular first baseman in 1956." "Sievers is a better fielder than Mickey Vernon," says Dressen. Vernon has been traded to Boston.

Fish Outlook Improves for Ohio's Anglers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fair and warm late-spring weather is bringing better fishing to Ohio, the state wildlife division reports.

Statewide fishing conditions look fair to good for the coming weekend with best possibilities in the larger inland lakes.

Here are the regional reports:

Northwest — Most streams are roily or muddy. Lake St Marys, East Harbor and Oxbow Lake are in good condition. Heavy catches of bass and bluegills are reported from East Harbor.

Northeast—Streams are muddy and high. Some lakes—like Berlin, Mogadore, Charles Mill and Milton—are in good shape and producing good catches. The outlook is fair to good.

East Central and Southeast — Most streams are roily, but some parts of Big Walnut, Blacklick, Big Darby and Deer Creek are improving fast. Lake fishing is fair to good, especially in Jackson, Knox, Rocky Fork and parts of Buckeye Lake and Hoover Reservoir.

Southwest — Both lakes and streams are in fair to good fishing condition and the weekend outlook is good. Indian, Loramie, Kiser, Cowan and Stonelick are in fine shape and large catches are reported. Many small feeder streams also are in good shape.

Sandusky Bay—Fishing has been fair to poor, but anglers at Bay Bridge and Battery Park have been taking large numbers of rather small perch. Crappies and catfish are being taken in the bay.

Black Panther Whips Bill Fox

Black Panther retained his tri-state gold belt and Brown Panther was victorious in a double main event wrestling card at the Marion Armory Wednesday night.

Black Panther whipped Billy Fox two out of three to successfully defend his title. He copped the opening fall with a hangman's hold in 10 minutes. Fox came back to tie up the hard - fought match with a pin toe hold on Panther after working on his leg for 13 minutes. Fox continued to work on Panther's leg in the third fall, but Panther pushed Fox into the ropes with his free foot and applied a hangman's hold as Fox came off the ropes with eight minutes elapsed.

The other portion of the main event saw Brown Panther rally to win two falls after dropping the opener. Tito Infanti won the first fall in 13 minutes with a shoulder stand. Panther, however, won the second fall with a series of head locks and an airplane spin in 12 minutes. Infanti was throwing Panther out of the ropes in the third fall but he ran under the ring and surprised Infanti with a hefty right hand to the chin for the deciding fall.

Gypsy Bocaro, substituting for Maurice Roberre, whipped Dutch Schultz with a crab hold in 12 minutes in the remaining match. The match was marked by slugging, hair pulling and other mayhem. Roberre was unable to make it last night due to automobile difficulties, promoter Les Fishbaugh says, but will be on the card here next Wednesday.

National Golf Day Slated at Courses Here

Local golfers join others throughout the country this week in observing National Golf Day.

An estimated 150 linksters at the Marion Country Club and Mar-O-Del courses are expected to shoot against scores of Jack Fleck and Faye Crocker, men's and women's PGA champs last year, at Rochester, N.Y., Saturday.

Local golfers beating the defending PGA champs with handicaps will qualify for medals signifying they beat them.

Approximately 100,000 golfers throughout the nation will pay $1 entry fees and attempt to best Fleck and Crocker. Proceeds go to golf foundations supported by the Professional Golfers Association. The program has raised approximately $478,000 to date for the foundations.

At the Marion Country Club, Jack Stoddard, club pro, expects 100 to shoot against the PGA champs. The Mar-O-Del expects an estimated 50 to participate in the fifth annual event.

Men will play throughout Saturday at the Country Club while the women can shoot their rounds anytime before Saturday, with some expected to participate today during regular Thursday ladies day. At the Mar-O-Del, men and women can shoot anytime this week.

More Automation Due

Homemaking Assisted By Electronic Gadgets

By SAM DAWSON

PITTSBURGH (AP) — It may be hard to control the housewife but she certainly put the controls on her house these days.

And the highly specialized automatic controls industry has cooking in its research laboratories still great marvels of automation for the home — including one that will let her know when her husband comes home in the early hours.

Variety of Devices

Hidden inside today's home appliances are a variety of tiny automatic control devices to measure time, start and stop gadgets, maintain heat or switch to cold. Just catching on is a thermal eye which makes it really hard for a cook to burn food prepared on the top of a stove.

About 300 million dollars worth of these devices each year go into the nation's ranges, refrigerators, water heaters, washing machines, dryers, air conditioners and other home appliances.

They are akin to the intricate devices that are automatically controlling the nation's industrial processes and are a respectable share of the industry's four billion dollar a year business.

Some of the control makers now specializing in supply home appliance producers with component parts, while often serving many other industries as well, are Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co. of Minneapolis; General Controls Co. of Glendale, Calif.; Penn Controls Inc. of Goshen, Ind.; Wilcolator Co. of Elizabeth, N.J.; and Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Co. of Greensburg, Pa.

Some Make Own Controls

Some appliance manufacturers also make part of their own controls. Westinghouse Electric Co. here, for example, makes all of its devices except clocks and the timers in all appliances except toasters.

Robertshaw - Fulton's Research Center at nearby Irwin, Pa., which is spending about 2½ million dollar. this year, has brought out the "thermal eye" which 40 manufacturers of gas and electric ranges are putting on the burners on the top of their new models. A dial set at the correct cooking temperature for a particular food keeps the heat constant for an indefinite period, working somewhat like oven temperature controls do.

Laboratory experts here say that the present day marvels are overshadowed by what's ahead. For example, tomorrow's compact walky-talkies will let mother keep firm control of children at play.

In the laboratories where they conjure up these compact automatic controls they even talk of electronically equipped driveways. When a homing car turns in, concealed lights go on along the walks and beside the doorway, and garage doors automatically open.

How does a man sneak in at 3 a.m. that way?

Western Union, Labor Groups Okay Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agreement on a two-year contract has ended the threat of a nationwide walkout of Western Union Telegraph Co. workers.

The company announced the agreement provides a 13 - cent hourly pay boost for its 45,000 workers retroactive to June 1, along with improved pensions and messenger allowances. Effective next Jan. 1, another 5 cents an hour is to be provided to adjust individual wage scales.

The workers had averaged $1.88 an hour. The unions had sought a 15-cent hourly pay boost and another 7 cents for adjustments. The agreement was reached with the Commercial Telegraphers Union and the independent American Communications Assn.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Garden Club of Ohio was presented with the Hilda Fox award for roadside development at a meeting here Wednesday of the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

Rotary Father-Son Program Will Be Addressed by Hill

A father and son meeting will be featured when the Marion Rotary Club holds its weekly luncheon Tuesday at Hotel Harding.

Approximately 80 invitations have been sent to sons, sons-in-law and grandsons of the Rotary members. This is the first meeting of its kind to be held by the club in a number of years.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Joe Hill, sports director for WTVN Radio and Television in Columbus. His talk will include his experiences as a sportscaster and his observations while covering the Columbus Jets spring baseball training in Florida.

Mr. Hill is a veteran of 19 years of sports broadcasting. He began his radio career in Atlanta, Ga.,

He went to Columbus after his service tour with the Army Air Corps during World War II and became a sports announcer with WLW-C and WVKO. He joined the staff of WTVN in 1952.

Beaten Man's Body Is Found Near Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The battered body of a man identified as Clarence Keith Cossin, 48, of Columbus was found Wednesday in a wooded area here.

Coroner Dr. Robert A. Evans said Cossin died from several severe blows about the head, possibly administered with an ax or hatchet.

Cossin's body was found by four boys camping in the area. He had been dead for two or three days.

Jury Acquits Two Ex-Policemen of Burglary Charge

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — A jury Wednesday acquitted two former East Liverpool policemen of charges they stole goods from a lumber yard. Now the pair face another trial on charges of breaking into a china shop and a dry-goods store.

Ira Cunningham, an East Liverpool policeman for 16 years, and Jerry Raimond, a merchant policeman for three years, were found innocent of breaking into the Joseph Berman Lumber Co. in 1954.

They were among seven officers indicted for burglary in a scandal that rocked the police department.

Another jury recently acquitted Patrolman Robert L. Hanna, 31, of charges that he broke into a furniture store.

All three men were acquitted despite testimony by Robert McBane, a fellow officer who pleaded guilty to a number of burglaries, and implicated the others.

Adamle Completes Medical Schooling

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tony Adamle worked his way through medical school playing football. He played for pay for the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

The onetime football bruiser will get his M. D. diploma as a bruise-healer from Western Reserve University next Wednesday. the 215-pound Adamle was linebacker for Coach Paul Brown's squads of 1947 through 1951, earning enough to enroll at reserve's medical school.

The former Ohio State University star, now 32, says he is "through with football" and looking forward to the time when he can be a small-town general practitioner "somewhere in Virginia."

Seems Equal to Any Red Challenge

U.S. Economy Way Ahead of Soviet's

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

On the threshold of a long struggle, Americans are doing some soul searching.

Conscious of their great strength on the edge of an economic-political war, Americans are beginning to take stock of their weaknesses, too.

Moscow, heading the Communist world, has thrown out a fateful challenge. In 10 to 15 years, it says, Communists will prove their regimented way of life is superior. Russia says it intends to overtake and outstrip the West's economic power and pave the way for imposing the Soviet idea — peacefully where possible, by force when there is resistance. This is now Communist dogma.

COMMUNISM bases itself on a belief the capitalist world will decay from inner contradictions. They reckon without the American revolution of 1929. The United States economy today seems equal to the challenge.

This will be more than an economic war, however. The political, the cultural and the military all play a part. Are the United States and its partners ready on all fronts? The answer is no. There are many weaknesses to be corrected.

Where the strengths of the American and Soviet economies are concerned, there can hardly be any comparison. Since 1929—peak of the pre-depression boom—American economic strength has grown to fabulous proportions. The Soviet press expresses satisfaction with current discussions of American production problems — but since the depression the United States economy has ridden out periodic recessions and adjustments and continued to go steadily forward. There is growing confidence among American leaders that "boom and bust" cycles belong to the past.

The United States gross national product — meaning the dollar value of goods and services for a year — is about 400 billion dollars. As closely as it can be estimated in dollars, the Soviet equivalent would be about 140 billions.

American consumers spent 80 billions in 1929 and more than 250 billions on goods and service in 1955. For a population 50 million greater, the 1955 figure for Soviet consumer spending would be about 70 billion dollars.

NO SOVIET citizen has dared dream of sharing in his economy the way the American worker does in his. The share of American employes in the national income for 1955 was about 322 billion dollars. The corporate percentage share in the U. S. national income has dropped proportionately to the rise in employe shares since 1929, but corporate profits have quadrupled.

Moscow charges that American business must have war to make profits. But in the World War II years, corporate profits were held to an annual 10 billion dollars. In the postwar years net profits after taxes hit 40 billions.

That is the bright side. On the political, cultural and military fronts, there are obvious weaknesses.

THE FIRST objectives of the Communist side remain military. Before Red leaders will risk further adventuring, they are determined to destroy what they call the West's positions of strength. This calls for concerted attack on NATO and other Western defense arrangements which draw a ring around the Communist world.

The Communists have made some progress. Weariness with military tax burdens, hunger for expanded trade, longing for security against the threat of a new global war.

The Red drive gradually is changing some American concepts. Many in Washington express belief the changes are for the better.

The concept of purely military coalitions is undergoing change. Nations of Europe remain fearful they will be overrun no matter how much of their national income they pour into military programs. More and more, emphasis is being given to economic and political integration of the free world—behind a shield of implied United States protection from attack.

The American approach to underdeveloped nations is changing. President Eisenhower has indicated more effort will be made to show respect for the aspirations and traditions of such countries and to the right of any nation to consider itself neutral in the struggle between the two great blocs. This implies offers of aid with no strings attached.

The Communist trade lure is being recognized as an attempt to break the unity of the West. The Soviet Union and Red China aim at forcing an open break on the issue of the strategic goods embargo The United States is cautiously countering with a review of its embargo policies.

Communist trade with the West must depend, however, upon mutual confidence in contracts Western businessmen can still see many reasons why trade with Red nations could be hazardous. There is a proved lack of Communist ability to perform except where political considerations make performance a must. There remain obstacles in the way of communication, contacts and in the unrealistic exchange rates

In the fields of science and education, there has been a tendency in the west to take Soviet claims at face value and thus overestimate Soviet gains. But this also has provided a spur for the West. There is evidence of more willingness to face up to western weaknesses in these fields. President Eisenhower's recent call for free world cooperation in research and education is part of this picture.

The United States, leader in the free world's struggle to remain free, has a shortage of scientific and technical personnel, more in research and development than in production. A broad campaign to correct this is about to get under way. But educators warn this must not be done at the expense of liberal education which, they insist, gives flexibility and avoids the Soviet pitfall of channeling talents into narrow fields.

Senate Approves Bill Designed To Aid Lake Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House a bill designed to encourage construction of modern vessels on the Great Lakes by granting large government allowances to shipping operators.

Passage was by voice vote after sharp debate.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Potter (R-Mich), would permit operators to build new ships on a trade-in allowance arrangement. The government would pay allowances for the obsolete vessels equal to the difference between the cost of building a new ship in an American yard and a foreign yard.

Sen. Williams (R-Del), an opponent of the measure, said this could amount to as much as 3½ or 4 million dollars per vessel.

Puppy With Broken Leg Makes Way to Hospital

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Even a little puppy knows where to go when he needs help.

Last week, the puppy appeared at the back door of Harlan Hospital. He was still there Sunday so an orderly examined him and found a broken leg.

Now the puppy, believed to have been hit by a car, is in the hospital with a splinted leg awaiting his master. His collar had a nameplate but no name on it. Nurses are caring for him until his master shows up.

Paul Robeson Loses Court Fight for Visa

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the State Department's denial of a passport to singer Paul Robeson, who refused to say whether he is or has been a Communist.

The court unanimously upheld the ruling in which U. S. Dist. Judge Burnita S. Matthews dismissed Robeson's complaint against Secretary of State Dulles.

Writing for the court, Judge Edward Barrett Prettyman said Robeson made no reply to the State Department's request that he execute an affidavit concerning present or past membership in the Communist party.

Robeson then was told, Prettyman said, that he could have an informal hearing but would be expected to answer questions about past and present membership in the party. He made no reply to this, but instead filed suit contending the passport regulations violated his constitutional rights.

'Volga' Stalls in Plant

USSR Touts New Auto, Then Fails To Produce

NEW YORK (NANA)—America's automobile industry, beset by slumping sales and employe layoffs, has no problems that can't be topped by its Russian counterpart.

Detroit executives are predicting with some pain that fewer than 6,000,000 new cars will be bought this year, compared to the record 8,000,000 snapped up in 1955. By contrast, Russia's biggest automobile manufacturer—the Molotov plant in Gorky—has a mounting backlog of orders; but its only 1956 model is stalled on the assembly lines

For many months Soviet editors have virtually ignored their own automobile industry's troubles while playing up the plight of U. S. car makers and dealers with their 900,000 to 1,000,000 unsold autos. Such a total represents six or seven years' output for the USSR at present rates (not two months' production, as in America), and the Russians claimed to see another capitalist economic disaster in the offing.

NOW, HOWEVER, the Communist press has been compelled to focus its attention closer home. It admits that a key Russian automobile producer faces serious difficulties, with the Soviet consumer, as usual, the big loser.

In March, 1955, the USSR unveiled the new, medium-priced "Volga" automobile to car-famish Soviet citizens with much newspaper and radio fanfare. The vehicle was touted as a technically advanced replacement for the rugged "Pobeda," which had been built at the Molotov plant with minor modifications for nearly 10 years.

Late model Fords and Chevrolets were brought to the USSR to be photographed beside, and compared with, the "Volga." Competitive tests between the new Soviet and U. S. cars were arranged, although results were never disclosed.

But disquieting rumors about the "Volga" began circulating in Russia. Some of them reached members of a Soviet scientific expedition camped on a drifting ice pack near the North Pole. Wanting more facts, they wrote the official government newspaper Izvestia:

"We have heard many good things about the new 'Volga' automobile. Those who have seen the car say it is very comfortable and has a handsome-looking body.

"Almost all of us have decided to buy a 'Volga' when we return to the mainland. But a pilot brought us a report that the 'Volga' won't be put in production in 1956 after all. He even heard that the machine has proved to be defective.

"How have the 'Volga' tests really been going?"

IZVESTIA SENT correspondent B. Shelepenkov to the Molotov plant to get firsthand information of the "Volga's" progoress. He reported that the factory directors "didn't find it easy" to give a satisfactory answer to the polar scientists' question.

The way things look, Molotov plant officials conceded, the "Volga" won't be put into quantity production until the last quarter of 1956. It will be stripped of much of the nickel and chrome that allegedly made initial test models "too showy." In addition, the first shipments of "Volgas"' will have to leave the factory without automatic transmissions — the most widely advertised feature of the new car.

"It would seem," Shelepenkov declared, "that the 'Volga' is becoming obsolete while still in its factory cradle. The ministry of the automobile industry has failed to act quickly enough to provide necessary equipment for making the new model."

Izvestia's correspondent found that "Volga" production would require major expansion of the Molotov plant's body shop and additional assembly line space. These needs have been ignored.

"The 'Volga' is still homeless," Comrade Golubovsky, chief of the body shop commented. "And, I might add, it will be some time before it has a roof over its head. The building construction trust shows no signs of hurrying the projects."

Shelepenkov reported that Comrade Sazanov, director of the Molotov plant, and Comrade Kozhevnikov, the assistant chief engineer, had never set foot in many of the shops slated for use in manufacturing the "Volga." He said that factory officials had frankly abandoned plans for introducing advanced labor-saving methods and machines in making the new car and were advocating continued use of outmoded processes for the time being.

"ONE DIFFICULTY is that designers and technologists at the Molotov plant fail to coordinate their work with production personnel. Plans that look good on paper become unsuitable in practice."

The assistant minister of the USSR's automobile industry came to Gorky to appraise the situation and made a windy pep talk without even looking into the shops, Izvestia charged. Other ministry officials said they 'didn't want to hear any more talk about installation of an improved suspension system in the "Volga." They even suggested that a modification of the old 50-horsepower "Pobeda" motor might be used in the "Volga" instead of tooling up to manufacture the far-superior 70-horsepower engine specially designed for the 1956 model car.

All this, correspondent Shelepenkov concluded sadly, "shows that the new automobile is being created in a very unhealthy atmosphere."

Reunions

DROLLINGER

The 51st annual Drollinger family reunion was held Sunday at the St. Paul parish house. A basket dinner was served at noon and a business meeting followed with Donald Howell, vice president, presiding.

Officers elected for next year include Mr. Howell, president; Robert Graham, vice president; June Graham, secretary and treasurer.

Gifts were awarded to Mrs Eula Biiger, the oldest person present, Susie Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pickett of near Marion, the youngest, and Mrs Ezra Green of Richwood, having the largest family present.

Next year's reunion will be at the same place the first Sunday in June.

LONGEVITY

Stand Taken By Connelly in Tax Fix Trial

He Denies Discussing Evasion Case With Caudle, Anyone Else

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Matthew J Connelly, White House appointments secretary under former President Truman, testified at his tax-fixing trial that he "never discussed the Sachs (tax evasion) case with T. Lamar Caudle or anyone else at any time."

Connelly also said Harry I. Schwimmer, attorney for Sachs, "never asked me to do anything improper."

Charged with Conspiracy

Connelly and Caudle, former head of the Justice Department's Tax Division, are charged with conspiring to defraud the government by fixing the tax evasion case of Irving Sachs, St.Louis shoe manufacturer.

If convicted, they face a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Connelly told the federal court jury Schwimmer offered in 1949 to buy an oil royalty for him for $750, saying it would be a good investment.

"Did you have any information from any source that the oil royalty cost anything other than $750?" he was asked.

"Not at any time from anyone," he replied.

The government contends the royalty cost Schwimmer $3,600.

Connelly said he had little recollection, if any, about the Sachs case before he was called to testify before the grand jury that returned the indictment against him.

Fined $40,000

Sachs was fined $40,000 in 1951 on a guilty plea but escaped a prison term on health grounds.

"I was not asked to do anything for Mr. Schwimmer that I did not do for other people," Connelly testified.

"Do you recall Schwimmer making a gift to you of two seats valued at more than $300?" he was asked.

"Yes, I believe that was in Kansas City at the Muehlbach Hotel"

No further explanation was given.

Character testimony was given in Connelly's behalf by George E. Allen, Washington attorney and businessman who was an adviser to Truman when Truman was president and is a personal friend of President Eisenhower, and by Rep. Moulder (D-Mo)

Both said they had known Connelly for years and his reputation for honesty and integrity was "excellent."

Vaccine From Own Cancers Used in Inoculating Patients

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

DETROIT (AP)—Some 30 cancer-stricken humans have been given vaccines made from their own cancers, a Boston physician disclosed Wednesday.

It is too early to tell whether they benefited. But there are signs they did, and good experimental reasons to think the vaccines can help.

Injected Under Skin

Each vaccine was prepared from bits of each person's own cancer, and then injected under the skin of that same person. The aim was to increase natural resistance to far-advanced cancer.

It could work by forming antibodies against the cancer, and by increasing the number of healthy defensive cells that resist the spread of cancer.

X-rays to kill cancer cells are given soon afterward.

The new experimental work was described to the third National Cancer Conference by Dr. John B. Graham, a physician, and his wife Ruth, a cytologist or expert on cells. Both are from the Vincent Memorial Hospital in Boston.

Mrs. Graham has found an apparent reason for the tragic difference often noted in how well women respond to X-ray treatments of cancer of the cervix, the neck of the womb.

She finds the results best if the women, before treatment, already have high amounts of one or both of two types of healthy useful cells, found near the cancerous cells.

If High, They Survive

If they have high amounts of both, 85 per cent of women are still living five years after X-ray treatment. If they have low amounts, only 19 per cent survive.

The Grahams are seeking ways of artificially increasing the number of these healthy, useful cells.

There is evidence so far that one patient developed specific antibodies against her own cancer, the Grahams said. It is too early to say whether they had an improvement in the response of healthy cells, and a bigger killing effect upon the cancer cells from X-rays.

Youth Holds to Story He Strangled Boy, 5

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said a 20-year-old youth they describe as illiterate and with a record of sex offenses against children today held to his story that he strangled Richard Townson, 5, in an alley May 20.

But the youth's parents insisted he could not be guilty, declaring their son William Roy Watson was at home during the day and evening that Richard was strangled with his own belt. A similar story came from other children of Mr. and Mrs. William Watson.

Detective Sergeants Wilbur Earle and Russell Jackson, who took the youth's signed statement, said Watson re-enacted the strangling at the scene. They said he gave "intimate details, all correct."

Charges have not been filed in the case as officers continued their investigation.

In 1953 Wisconsin produced 11¼ million cases of evaporated milk.

Wealth Is Left For Jaunt up Amazon River

NEW YORK (INS — Young Ivan Obolensky has left wealth and comfort behind to help record and decode a strange and perhaps archeology-shaking "river of writing."

The slim, 31-year-old New Yorker — born of Russian nobility and the famed Astor fortune — is vice president of the Amazonia Foundation, and one of an eight-man expedition which has set out for the plateau of the Aymara tribe and nearby areas in the mountainous border area of Bolivia and Peru.

There on boulders and cliffs of a small tributary to the world's mightiest river, explorers have found undeciphered writings.

These writings, Obolensky said before his departure, seem to have characters and symbols resembling those of Chinese script. He added:

"They may lead us into a new world. They may provide the key to the ages-old civilization whose culture and technological progress will stagger us."

Obolensky, intense and energetic, was born with the much-maligned "silver spoon." He is the grandson of the late John Jacob Astor, who went down in the Titanic disaster. His father is Serg Obolensky, one - time Russian prince and a New York hotel executive.

He wed Claire Elizabeth McGinnis, daughter of the late Felix S. McGinnis—a self-made western railway magnate—in 1949. They have three children.

The young husband, silver spoon or not, sat down to five years intensive work on his first novel, "Rogues' March," to be published soon by Random House. He is active in many philanthropic and charitable organizations.

He recently became vice president, under President George Michanowsky, of the Amazonia Foundation. Machanowsky is a former professor of comparative civilizations, and is leading the expedition in South America.

Obolensky said the undeciphered writings "are the only evidence of the people who once lived there. They seem to have known that a great disaster was imminent. In several places the writings are exactly the same. It is as if they wanted to leave a message and wanted to be sure that we saw it.

"The indications are," he said, "that the mountains may have sprung up when the people lived there. The upheaval may have wiped out all but a remnant of the race.

Students Using Dummy To Pay for Education

BROKEN BOW, Okla. (AP)—James Wallis, 17, a hgh school junior, is hoping to earn college expenses with a ventriloquist's dummy.

James and his dummy have performed at nearly 100 banquets, benefit shows and other events. In addition to his act with the dummy, Wallis impersonates a half-dozen major singers.

Engagement Rings Now Offered Men

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — Men will begin wearing engagement rings if the nation's jewelers have their way.

And when a lady fair tells her swain, "Yes, dear, of course I'll marry you;" they will begin shopping for two rings instead of one — if the jewelers can popularize the idea.

Before bachelors begin scoffing, they should listen to Frank Enos, representative of a jewelry firm, who told the Oregon Jewelers' association about the new style idea.

Enos' firm led the campaign to establish a man's wedding ring, and he said:

"More than 90 per cent of today's weddings are double ring ceremonies. No reason why they shouldn't go all the way.

"It's just an extension of the double ring ceremony.

"We match the setting with the man's wedding ring and the diamond is just like the conventional engagement ring."

Enos said the men's engagement rings will cost "from $50 to $25,000 — just like the bride's rings," but he acknowledged: "In most cases they probably won't be so expensive. The girls pay for them."

ERIE WATCH INSPECTORS

Revolutionists Hampered by Soaring Costs

$2 Million Price Tag Put on Illegal Arms Seized by Cuba Police

HAVANA (NANA) — Like most everything else in recent years, the cost of revolution-making is skyrocketing.

Totting up what they had found in revolutionary arms found in Cuba during the last four years, police declared their value at just over $2,000,000.

Weapons gathered from caches in attics, under basement floors, in barrels of flour and other likely hiding places formed an illicit arsenal such as old-time insurrectionists would never have envisioned in their fondest dreams.

From United States

Mostly of United States manufacture, the arms included 11 mortars, 2,328 hand grenades, 111 machineguns, 846 sticks of dynamite, 11 homemade aerial bombs, 300 pistols and revolvers, five field telephones, six shotguns, 23 bayonets, 388 rifles and two bazookas.

More than 1,000,000 rounds of M-1 rifle ammunition, 60 mortar grenades, including 60 .mm and 81 .mm, 629 submachine gun clips and a few boxes of shotgun shells were found with the weapons.

Police Chief Rafael Salas Canizares told Havana's urgency court, which handles matters deemed likely to create public disorder, that the arms were bought by ex-President Carlos Prio Socarras, who was ousted on March 10, 1952, by the present chief executive, General Fulgencio Batista.

The police chief quoted Prio as having admitted in a television broadcast that he had spent $5,000,000 in a four-year effort to overtirow Batista with smuggled arms. "There must be a considerable amount still lying around," commented Chief Salas.

Arms destined for clandestine shipment to Cuba were also found by police in Mamaroneck, N.Y., and in Miami.

Although some of the weapons, now stored in Cuban army arsenals, are of Mexican, Belgian and Russian manufacture, at least 90 per cent have been identified as United States World War II surplus. Cuban exiles bought them through American agents.

Police said the impressive arsenal entered the country by small plane and boat. Hundreds of sugar cane fields throughout the islands are serviceable as emergency landing fields for light aircraft and the coasts are indented with numerous coves suitable for entry of small cargo vessels.

Attempt Broken Up

Despite their ability to get the arms into the country, the would-be insurrectionists never have been able to bring them to effective use. Pointing this out, strongman Batista, an expert in such matters, remarked, "They've got the arms but they don't have the men to use them."

Only recently a group of 50 tried to use some of the smuggled arms in a suicide attack on a barracks 60 miles from Havana. As they approached the barracks in trucks they were riddled by waiting machinegunners. Of the 50 starters, 15 were killed and 12 captured.

In recent weeks, taking advantage of the suspension of constitutional guarantees for widespread searches of farms and homes, police have turned up several arms caches in the Havana area. Several anti-Batista men found with the arms have been brought into court on stretchers after police "interrogations." Urgency court judges ordered them transferred to hospitals.

Principal opposition to the Batista regime comes from followers of ex-President Prio, from students and from militant members of the orthodox reform party, which was rated a sure winner of the 1952 presidential election which Batista, also a candidate, got around by taking over the army 80 days before election day.

Two-and-one-half years after his dramatic seizure of power, Batista held elections in which, to the surprise of none, he turned out to be the only candidate. His term ends in February, 1959, unless his opponents can end it before then.

Chilled Crab Bisque Is Perfect Summer Dish

Chilled crab bisque is a perfect dish to serve on a hot summer day.

Ideal for the sea - food minded, it's filling and fits in perfectly as the main course for lunch.

Use:

2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspooon dry mustard
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 cups milk
1 cup light cream
1 cup (6½ oz. can) crab meat, drained and cut into chunks
2 tablespoons butter

Combine tapioca, salt, pepper, paprika, dry mustard, onion, milk and cream in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 to 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add crab meat and butter and mix. Keep over hot water 15 to 20 minutes, to heat thoroughly and blend flavors. Cool about 20 minutes, stir, and chill thoroughly—2 to 3 hours, or overnight. Before serving, thin to desired consistency with milk or cream. Garnish with thin slices of lemon and finely chopped parsley.

Iowa Muscleman Issues Challenge

OMAHA (INS)—Georgia's Paul Anderson had better look to his "strong man" laurels.

Omaha sports promoter Matt Pascale has a 27-year-old Iowan whose feats of strength he describes as "something amazing."

The "cornbelt Sandow" is Archie Vanderpool, a massive-muscled 240-pound native of Woodbine, Ia., who has been performing his strong man stunts for about three years.

Some of Archie's more prodigious feats include lifting 1,840 pounds off the ground and holding a car in low gear for 52 seconds.

He performed the latter feat at a local celebration in Griswold, Ia., after seeing it done on a television show by a man who claimed to be the only person in the world who could hold a car in low gear for 30 seconds.

One of Archie's "routine" stunts is bending 60-penny spikes with ease.

Pascale says Vanderpool is eager to match his strength against any and all challengers in a weightlifting contest and is confident he can support his claim of being "the world's strongest man."

America Best Customer for Dutch Flowers

Producers Name New Tulips in Honor of Leading U.S. Citizens

LEYDEN, Holland (NANA) — Americans are learning to live graciously, report the Dutch.

How do they know? The United States has taken over as Holland's best flower-bulb customer.

The Dutch are exporting $13,000,000 worth of flower bulbs annually to America — nearly a quarter of Dutch bulb exports. The United States leads Britain (10 per cent), West Germany (17 per cent) and Sweden (12 per cent) as Holland's best bulb customer.

Named for Americans

Holland is reciprocating the favor. New varieties of tulips are being named wholesale for Americans. The "General Eisenhower" tulip appeared several years ago. Ike since has been joined in the tulip beds by former President Truman, Gen. Alfred Gruenther, Gen. George C. Marshall and a host of other popular Americans.

Naming tulips for prominent Americans, of course, doesn't handicap tulip bulb sales to the U.S. This is not happenstance. The Dutch flower bulb industry conducts a gigantic annual promotion campaign.

Holland is steadily increasing bulb cultivation. In 1939 the Dutch had 17,900 acres in bulbs. Today, they have 20,000 acres producing crocuses and others.

But the tulip still reigns supreme. Of the 20,000 acres, 7,500 are in tulips, 5,800 in gladioli, 2,500 in daffodils and the rest in miscellaneous bulbs.

Tulip acreage has been boosted 40 per cent in recent years. But the hyacinth is coming up fast, acreage having been expanded 70 per cent since the war.

The Dutch have been juggling bulb acreage to produce the maximum cash export crop with minimum acreage.

Bulb acreage was halved by the war, but even though under German occupation the Dutch stubbornly persisted in bulb cultivation.

In 1945 they revived bulb exports with 12,000 tons against 39,000 prewar. Since 1945 exports have mounted yearly, reaching the all-time high of 60,000 tons last year.

The rise in cash value has been even more spectacular. In 1939 Holland's 39,000 tons of bulb exports grossed $7,000,000. But in 1945, with exports of only 12,000 tons, the Dutch earned $7,500,000. And the total value of last year's bulb export business was around $44,000,000.

How has Holland done it? By scientific bulb cultivation. At Lisse, in the heart of the Dutch bulb region, the government operates a laboratory for bulb research. This laboratory has the single task of preserving Holland's unchallenged position as the world's leading flower-bulb producer.

New Bulbs Developed

The laboratory presses the development of new flower bulbs. It is a quest after new color combinations and the control and elimination of bulb diseases.

By scientific methods, the Dutch have learned to achieve miracles in flower production. Take tulips as an example. Holland is producing several thousand varieties of tulip bulbs. The color shadings and patterns in some tulips are so finely wrought that it takes an expert to identify them.

Export of flower bulbs is only one aspect of the Dutch floral industry. Holland exports millions of dollars worth of cut flowers the year around to European countries.

And millions of tourists are lured to Holland annually, particularly in April, May and June by the Dutch floral pageantry. Holland's bulb district, between Leyden and Haarlem, becomes a fantastic sea of brilliant blooms.

The entire economy of this area is finely geared to exploitation of the flower crop. From arrival until departure, the tourist is drenched in flowers.

And when he leaves the Dutch sell him a lei to take home as a final souvenir. The well-documented traveler to Holland also buys a lei to drape around his automobile.

Valentino Termed 'Kind of Homely'

CROWN POINT, Ind. (INS)—Crown Point's own Marryin' Sam, who has tied the knot for 30,000 couples, said at least half the men who have passed through his office were as good looking as Rudolph Valentino.

Sixty - year - old Harvey Minas said, in fact, the great lover of the silent films was "kind of homely."

The occasion of their meeting was Valentino's marriage in Crown Point with Justice of the Peace Howard Kemp officiating and Minas acting as a witness. That decided Minas on his career and he became a justice of the peace in his home town and has been marrying people ever since.

His hobby is collecting wedding ring boxes. At last count (which really is more of a guess) he figured his collection now numbers 30,000 boxes.

Although he doesn't number the Valentino box among his trophies, Minas has the box the ring came in from more than one celebrity.

Early Birds Intelligent, Farmer Is Convinced

GEARY, Okla. (AP) — Ammon Owen is convinced the early bird gets the worm because he is smarter.

While plowing his field, he noticed a flock of inland gulls following him and flying down and hottling up the worms from the turned furrows.

The next morning, when he got back to the field the gulls flew in to wait for him to do his plowing.

Up and Down

YORKTON, Sask. (AP) — Anton Wachesyn, 24, went up a tree fast when chased by a brown bear. The bear went up after him and clawed his legs. Wachesyn came down fast, grabbed a hatchet and chased the animal away.

Clown, Bears Steal Show

Russian Circus Making Big Hit in London Run

LONDON (NANA) — Thirteen bears and a clown named Oleg Popov have done more to brighten relations between Russia and Britain than all the effusive declarations of emissaries Malenkov, Khrushchev and Bulganin.

The bears and Popov work for the Moscow State Circus, currently on its first tour of western Europe.

Whatever else parents might think about Soviet tactics, they are forced to agree with the children, who are convinced the Russians can put on the liveliest and funniest circus in the world.

A MASS OF British youngsters — at least 100,000 of them by the time the local engagement ends — will be left wondering why they have heard so many unpleasant things about the people (and bears) from Moscow. A 10-year-old boy, "ooh-ing" and "aah-ing" his way through a three-hour performance at Harringay arena, turned suddenly to his mother and was heard to exclaim, "Are all the Russians bad?" "Hush, Albert," said the mother, "and enjoy the acrobats."

The somersaulting and tight-rope walking had, of course, its political parallel. The turnabout from cold-war days, the new Russian approach to international friendship, was now clearly on view. Back in Moscow, not too long ago, circus clowns evoked laughter by apeing an Uncle Sam who sat on his money bags and twisted the British lion's tail. Now the clowns, as represented by Popov, walked the tight little line of pure and simple comedy.

There were no political overtones. Popov, an extremely skillful clown with the mobile face of a Danny Kaye, shunned even the traditional grotesque red - nose makeup. His cheeks slightly whitened, his tousled hair hanging under his oversize cloth cap, he appeared in a baggy suit, flitting across the ring and selling his own special brand of pantomime. This included some hilarious juggling, some mimicry of trapeze artistry and some nonchalant contrariness. The kids—and the adults—loved him and cried for encore after encore.

Popov, only 25, is already a recognized favorite in the Soviet Union.

THE CLOWN'S stature as an ambassador of sorts is sufficiently established to cause the Russians some embarrassment The Moscow State Circus operates, in accordance with modern Soviet practice, as a "collective" team. But Popov stole the show during its run in Paris and Brussels and threatened to revive "the cult of personality." The spontaneous build-up was such that when the circus arrived in London a score of press photographers were on hand — their cameras all aimed at the clown.

Popov, protesting that he was here only as a member of a team and not as an individual star, shyly dodged the throng of cameramen until they agreed to photograph his comrades as well Then, in serious, un-clownlike mood, he spoke of his past success: "It only makes me more determined to improve myself. It has made me more critical."

Beyond this Slavic soul-searching, Popov would utter little for the benefit of the press. It is known, however, that he started adult life as a compositor on Pravda, the Communist party paper, and then went to the School of Circus Arts in Moscow

In western countries, the usual training ground is the ring itself, with performers passing on, informally, their skills to one another's children But the Russians take their circuses with scientific seriousness, and neophytes spend four years gaining a diploma, in acrobatics or animal training or clowning, at the state school. Then they join one of the 55 permanent troupes that tour the country.

The show in London is a selection of the Soviet Union's best acts. By North American standards, it is small, and lacks the usual atmosphere associated with the roaring Big Top. The 22 performers assemble in one ring, instead of spreading themselves over a bewildering area. But trapeze wizardry is such that few onlookers object to the absence of sawdust or parading elephants.

In place of the hoopla and sideshows is a concentration of superb aerial gymnastics, bareback horse maneuvers and tight-rope pirouettes. But the greatest moment, aside from Popov's entry, comes when a baker's dozen of ambling brown bears start swinging on trapezes, riding motorcycles and generally behaving, as trainer Valentin Filatov put it, "like human beings." Filatov wouldn't specify whether he meant Russian human beings or western human beings. Just human beings, anywhere, he finally said.

Stove Loan Okay Sought From FHA

WASHINGTON, D. C. (INS) — Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), has asked the Federal Housing Administration to consider making built-in stoves and refrigerators eligible for FHA loan insurance.

Right now, Sparkman says that FHA has a flat ban on insuring loans for the purchase of any type of refrigerator or stove on the grounds that they are "freestanding" equipment and can be removed from the property.

Yet, the lawmaker says the FHA will handle loans for dishwashers "on the theory that they are part of the realty. Sparkman commented: "This is truly making 'fish' of a dish-washer and 'foul' of a refrigerator."

The Senate Housing Subcommittee chairman said he felt a "reanalysis" of the home improvement program is "overdue," especially since the administration is supporting "Operation Home Improvement" this year.

The United States produces about half the world's factory-produced goods.

More Heavy Industry

Business Development In E. Germany Watched

BERLIN (NANA) — Western Allied officials are closely observing the Communist program to develop heavy industry in East Germany.

This program is on such a scale as to convince official Western observers here that Russia has no intention, either now or in the foreseeable future, of relaxing its grip on the Soviet Zone.

East Germany traditionally has been Germany's light industry and agricultural area. Russia is attempting a drastic reorientation of the area's entire economy.

Where once East Germany formed an economic unit in partnership with the Ruhr, it is now being reoriented to mesh with the East European economies.

AT FUERSTENBERG, near Frankfurt - Oder, the Russians have created an artificial "Eastern Ruhr." Prewar, the creation of a large steel industry in this district would have been stark economic nonsense.

The Communists not only have developed a large steel industry at Fueratenberg. They appear to have it on a sound economic footing. Fuerstenberg's coal comes from Poland and its iron ore from Krivoyrog in the Ukraine.

Theoretically, this places Fuerstenberg on an approximate level with the Ruhr, which gets most of its iron ore from Sweden. Since the Polish western frontier has been moved up to the Oder, Poland has a big stake in the "Eastern Ruhr."

Prewar, however, such an economic rearrangement on East Germany's economy would have been impossible because of customs barriers and nationalistic feeling.

AFTER SOVIET dismantlings in 1946, East Germany was left with a total steel production capacity of 180,000 tons a year. Now the Soviet Zone is producing 2,500,000 tons of steel annually.

This is infinitesimal contrasted with West German steel output of 22,000,000 tons. But considering the obstacles the East Germans have had to surmount, it is an impressive achievement.

Similarly, for the first time ever, East Germany is beginning to produce heavy industrial equipment which prewar was the exclusive preserve of the Ruhr. Items include a 6,000-ton press and heavy mining equipment.

Heavy industrial production capacity has been created by the reconstruction and revamping of Soviet Zone plants that formerly produced specialized items.

FOR EXAMPLE, the Schwarzkopf Locomotive Works at Wildau has been reorganized and expanded to produce a complete line of rolled steel factory equipment.

As a consequence of this drastic reshuffling of Soviet Zone industrial capacity, the East Germans can now produce almost any item of heavy industrial equipment. Furthermore, the Soviet Zone is beginning to build complete factory installations for export to her satellite partners and the Afro-Asian centers of Communist trade penetration.

Such a far-reaching reorientation of East Germany's industrial production capacity was the principal, although little noted in the West, achievement of the Soviet Zone's five-year plan of 1951 to 1955.

At the same time, the East Germans managed to raise industrial production from an index figure of 100 (representing the 1950 level) to 192.3 for 1955.

EASTERN GERMANY'S foreign trade, under impetus of the industrialization drive, has jumped to $1,500,000,000 annually. Russia take the bear's share of German exports—a round $825,000,000 Poland takes $115,000,000, China $100,000,000 and Czechoslovakia $90,000,000.

Gauging the Soviet Zone's industrial expansion is a tricky business Numerous extraordinary factors have to be taken into consideration.

Although it is customary to contrast East Germany's economic situation with the West German boom, such a yardstick is highly misleading.

Western economic analysts point out the following fallacies:

1. East Germany has only one-third the area and population of West Germany.

2. East Germany traditionally was discouraged for sound economic reasons prior to the war from attempting to compete with the Ruhr and the Saar. Poor in natural resources, the Soviet Zone concentrated on agricultural production (it was Germany's "breadbasket") and specialized light industry.

3. Soviet plant dismantlings were much more thorough in the Soviet Zone than Allied dismantlings in West Germany.

4. The Western Allies pumped gigantic transfusions of economic aid into the prostrate West German economy. In East Germany, however, the Soviets gave the East Germans no comparable assistance. Instead, Russia put the Germans to work paying off the $10,000,000,000 reparations bill demanded of all of Germany by Stalin at Potsdam.

It is from this perspective that Western experts in Berlin are observing the Soviet Zone's painful but steady economic progress. So far this progress is slight compared with the West Germany production "miracle" — but great enough to discourage the Soviets from unfettering their German satellite.

Service Veteran Becomes 'Rookie'

ABILENE, Tex. (INS) — A retired U. S. Army lieutenant colonel with 32 years of service under his belt is now a "rookie" at Abilene Christian College in Abilene.

Lt. Col. Joy William Braack, 52, has registered as a spring freshman at Abilene Christian and is carrying a full load of 17 semester hours toward his bachelor's degree as a Bible major.

Asked why he decided to trade the life of a retired soldier for the rigors of collegiate study, Braack says:

"I just felt that I could get a degree and better qualify myself for church work, organization of educational groups in the church or even preach if the opportunity comes along."

Braack and his wife, the former Myra Smith of Dallas, now live a few blocks from the Abilene campus in this quiet West Texas College town.

Seventeen years old when he enlisted in the Army, the retired officer rolled up 20 years of service in Texas as a non-commissioned officer. He earned the rank of captain in the reserve during that time and in 1940 was promoted to that grade on active duty.

During World War II, Braack served in Australia in the adjutant general's department.

One of the shortest railroads in the United States operates for 2½ miles out of Union, Ore.

Retires at 84

'Bishop With 150 Wives' Gives Up Mission Work

SYDNEY (NANA) — An amazing episode of the little-known pioneer history of North Australia has been recalled here with the retirement of one of its most famous missionaries, Bishop Francois Xavier Gsell, 84

Bishop Gsell was known as the "Bishop With 150 Wives"

As a young student at Rome, Bishop Gsell was a school friend of the present Pope Pius XII

He came to Australia as a young missionary priest in 1907, and between 1909-06 played a great part in building the New Guinea Kokoda Trail — a narrow route over the almost impenetrable Owen Stanley Ranges, which became famous in World War II

When he later became bishop of Darwin, Northern Territory he had the world's largest diocese — 500 000 square miles of sparsely populated and virtually unexplored terrain

ON AN OUTBACK 'patrol' in 1922 a naked girl screaming with terror, burst from thick bush and flung herself at the feet of the missionary

As he bent to help her, a spear quivered in the sand nearby

Warpainted aborigines burst from the bush and formed a threatening ring around the crying 10-year-old native girl and the bearded Sacred Heart missionary

Without speaking, the missionary unrolled a new blanket Inside was a new ax, several knives, a bag of flour, tobacco, in all about $10 worth of trade goods

An old native the leader, stepped forward He prodded the ax with his foot and grunted agreeably to the others Greedy eyes watched his movements

Then with a fire tempered spear the savage leader prodded the missionary in the calf until blood appeared He prodded the girl in the leg with the same spear picked up the blanket and the trade goods and disappeared with his followers into the bush.

Missionary Gsell had "bought" his first wife, and the "marriage" saved the Bathurst island tribe from committing racial suicide.

The once powerful tribe had been getting smaller year by year, because the old men of the tribe were "collecting" the young wives, and giving the old women to the young men

By tribal laws, as old as the sands of the North Australian Desert, baby girls were promised to future husbands from birth, being usually married at 10 to men who might have been their great-great-grandfathers

Some of the tribe's octogenarians had as many as six young wives, while the young men had to put up with discarded wives no longer capable of bearing children.

THE BIRTHRATE on Bathurst Island, 50 miles across the Clarence Strait from Darwin, dropped rapidly in consequence

That was at the time when missionary Gsell's first 'marriage' saved a native girl who had run away from her aged husband — a crime that could be punished with death

Gsell did not stop at one "marriage" Over the years he bought over 150 young girls, some little more than babies, from the natives—and according to the tribal law that transaction made them his "wives"

He founded a convent school on Bathurst Island, and the girls grew up healthy with a Christian education

Missionary Gsell took pride in his work because in all the years he had been in Darwin he had been unable to convert a single Bathurst Island native

The natives were Myalls and steeped in their own time-long superstitions They were incapable of comprehending other beliefs

Eventually the Bathurst Island natives were impressed by the healthy way the Lubras (native girls) were growing up at the mission Finally they began to send their boys to the mission

While the missionary owned the girls the boys still belonged to the tribe and went on periodic bush trips with their leaders

But one day the "much-married" bishop found his dream had come true His first "wife" had grown to womanhood, and he gave her in marriage to a Christian boy of her own choice

Bathurst Island's population started to grow and today the tribe is thriving

Bishop Gsell was awarded the Order of the British Empire for his missionary work at Bathurst Island one of the two large islands in the Torres Strait, north of Darwin

Bishop Gsell has said his last Mass and lives today in quiet retirement at the Sacred Heart Monastery here

The Bathurst Island Mission which he founded no longer has to purchase young girls to save them from marrying old men Their parents willingly send them to the mission for their education and upbringing

Started Gold Rush

Congress Asked To Pay For Damages to Sutter

WASHINGTON (NANA) — J. Arthur Younger (R-Calif.) is asking the United States to make good — after a century — for the damage the California gold rush did to the man who started it, John Sutter.

Untold millions in virgin gold were found on Sutter's property, but he died in poverty because the rush of prospectors overwhelmed him. Now Congress is being asked to bestow $50,000 on the descendants of the man who might have been the richest in the world.

IF PAST performance is any guide, however, the request will be denied. For from 1866 to his death in 1880, Sutter begged Congress to pay damages, but to no avail. In 1880, Congress adjourned without doing anything for him, and two days later the heartbroken pioneer died in "absolute penury."

Now Representative Younger has again introduced a bill recognizing Sutter's claims as "just and proper." Chief beneficiary would be one of Sutter's descendants, Mrs. Anna F. Young of Daly City, Calif. Says the representative, "Even at this late date, I think the Congress should approve this claim."

Certainly the amount requested is much more modest than the damages requested a few years ago. At that time, two residents of Vienna claimed to be the nephew and granddaughter of John Sutter's sister and asked the United States for a cool $300,000,000. Then, too, as with all other claims by the Sutter family, Congress did nothing.

Some of the lawmakers expressed doubt that the two Austrians could be related to John Sutter, but actually this romantic figure of the American West was originally a European. Born and schooled in Switzerland, he came here in 1834 and struck out for California by way of the Oregon Trail. In those days, California was not in the Union and both Mexico and Russia had interests in the area.

SUTTER SETTLED on the Sacramento River, where he received a huge grant of land from Mexico on condition that he build a fort there and establish the region as a stronghold of Mexican influence. Later he became a Mexican citizen and a frontier justice of the peace.

Naming his tiny kingdom "New Switzerland," Sutter turned it into a model and profitable community. In addition to thousands of acres of rich farm land, Sutter's territory included a distillery, factories for making farm tools and blankets, flour mills, bakeries and a blacksmith shop.

"My best days were just before the discovery of gold," he said, ironically. "Without the discovery, I would now be the richest man on the shores of the Pacific."

When news of the gold strike leaked out of Sutter's mill, thousands of frantic prospectors scrambled over New Switzerland, ruining Sutter's crops, killing his cattle and stealing his supplies. In the years before, Sutter had spent thousands of dollars helping American pioneers in California and provisioning such explorers as Kit Carson and John Fremont. For all this, he received nothing.

"I WAS FOOLISH enough to have faith in men who cheated me on every side," Sututer declared. "My property was at the mercy of the rabble. I was alone and there was no law."

When the law did come to consider Sutter's case, his plight was made even worse. To pay business debts, he had sold much of his land to the gold prospectors. Now, 'by some freak kind of laws" the Supreme Court denied Sutter's title to the Mexican land grant and he felt "obliged to make good" all over again to those who had brought property from him.

Sutter himself never mined enough gold to cover the cost of looking for it. Eventually, he left California, penniless and disillusioned, and settled in the little Swiss village of Lititz, Pa.

The man on whose land fabulous amounts of gold were discovered lived out his life frugally, resigned even to having "no more beer." A small pension granted by California lasted a few years, and, spurned by Congress year after year, Sutter finally died in poverty.

On his desk lay an unfinished letter to his wife, telling her that his claims had again been ignored.

Now the claims are being revived for his heirs.

Bucyrus students expected to attend include Judith Judy and Marjorie Sheerer, co-editors of their school publication, and Tedica Cook, business manager.

The course of instruction will include sessions on editing regular letterpress newspapers, editing yearbooks, business phases of new papers and yearbooks, editing mimeographed newspapers, editing offset papers, photography and radio and TV journalism.

Featured speakers during the workshop include Robert E. Kennedy, chief editorial writer of the Chicago Sun-Times and Otto Soglow, King Features cartoonist.

Nearly 1,000 journalism students and advisers are expected to attend the annual training event, according to L. J. Hortin, director of the workshop.

Banquets Taking Place Of Fight With Thieves

RUSH LAKE, Wis. (AP) — The Nepeuskun Horsemen's Assn., founded in 1860 to frustrate overactive horse thieves, is still active.

Members are sons and grandsons of the charter members.

Since the horse was deemphasized the group has confined its meetings largely to electing officers and holding banquets.

Famous House Of Rothschild Makes Revival

Family Banking Body Completes Comeback After War's Disasters

PARIS, (NANA)—From an unmarked building on a Paris street so narrow it is little more than an alleyway, the famous banking house of Rothschild Freres is making a comeback in the world of international finance.

A new generation of Rothschilds sits in the green upholstered board room of 21 Rue Lafitte For 10 years, Baron Guy de Rothschild, 47, and his cousins, Alan, 46, and Elie, 39, have been working quietly but steadily to recoup the heavy losses suffered by their wholly family-owned firm in World War II. A half-dozen German and Austrian members of the Rothschild clan, their wives and children died in Nazi concentration camps and the French Rothschilds barely escaped with their lives.

In 1945, the surviving Rothschild senior partners were old and weary. Their Paris counting house was shuttered. Financial circles doubted that Rothschild Freres, established in Napoleon's time and once one of the world's leading private banks, would ever recover from the blows it had sustained.

Important in Banking

Today, if Rothschild is not quite the financial giant of the past, it again looms importantly in European banking. Experts agree its comeback is chiefly attributable to two factors—the keenness of Guy and his cousins and their family connections.

The present senior partner is a heavyset, intense man who gives an impression of tremendous vitality This is not a mistaken impression according to his associates. "He works longer and harder than any of us," one of them said.

Guy lives in something approaching the luxurious manner of his 19th century ancestors. His vast chateau and Paris town house are glittering showplaces, his dinners famous. He enjoys the grand style but also feels that even in these days it is good advertising for a financier to let the world know he can afford to live well.

Private bankers, including Rothschild, no longer attempt the huge international deals which in the past sometimes propped up governments and occasionally changed history. Financing on that scale now is left to governments and their official monetary agencies.

Backs Reconstruction

But Rothschild has plunged heavily into European industrial reconstruction since the war. It has gained a reputation as a banking house always interested in backing promising new industries and new industrial techniques.

Business at Rothschild Freres is conducted with much of the old-fashion elegance reminiscent of the era when they were the financial advisers to Napoleon III and most of Europe's other monarchs, and, with their English cousins, helped to finance the Suez Canal.

There is no sign to mark the bank, situated in a shabby, weatherbeaten building, indistinguishable from those on either side of it. It is on one of the less imposing streets in Paris' opera district. The Rothschilds have never been interested in impressing the general public.

But once inside, the atmosphere abruptly changes. Receptionists wear morning coats and striped trousers. Corridors are thickly carpeted. People with business there come and go quickly, but with a hushed dignity.

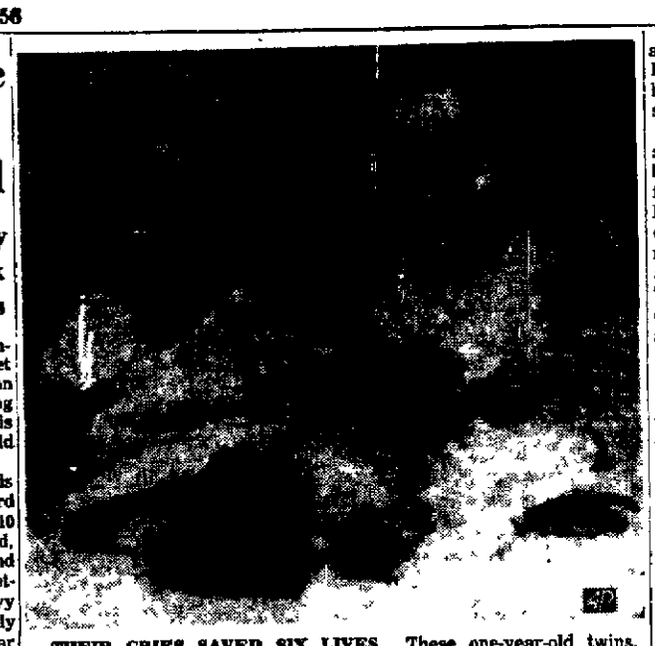
Never Hectic

"At Rothschild," one of the employes explained, "no one raises his voice, ever. We never waste time, but we are never hectic."

As though to signal its recovery, Rothschild recently announced the creation of its first North American subsidiary. The Five Arrows Securities Co.—the name honors the original five Rothschild brothers—has been set up in Toronto to seek investment opportunities in Canada, the U. S and Latin America. Long a dream of Guy de Rothschild, who is its chairman, the organization of the new subsidiary was delayed until Rothschild Freres felt itself re-established on the world financial scene.

The composition of the board of directors of Five Arrows offers evidence of one of the Rothschilds' great strengths, their strong and wide family ties. One of the directors is Edmund de Rothschild of the British branch, N.M. Rothschild and Sons Another is Baron Lambert of Brussels' Banque Lambert, whose mother was a Rothschild.

Of the five sons of Meyer Rothschild who organized banking houses 150 years ago in Frankfurt, Vienna, Naples, London and Paris, only the English and French descendants remain active in finance. The London and Paris firms are entirely separate and distinct. The two families are by this time only distantly related, but Rothschild family loyalty remains.



THEIR CRIES SAVED SIX LIVES. These one-year-old twins, Patricia (left) and Richard Murray, were credited by police with saving six lives in Scranton, Pa., by crying loudly. When their father, Richard Murray, 30, got up to comfort the crying twins, he discovered a strong odor of gas and felt ill He carried his wife and the twins outside and wakened another man and woman in the apartment.

Strange Tradition Recalled by Death

ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—A strange tradition, from the forgotten rural years when almost every family kept bees, was startlingly recalled after the death of John Zepka

Throughout his life, Zepka had raised, worked with, and loved bees. He became widely known in the Berkshire Hills as a man who "had a way with them."

When the cortege reached the grave, mourners found the funeral tent swarming with bees—on the tent ceiling and clinging to floral sprays. They did not annoy the mourners—just remained immobile. Nothing like it had ever been seen here before.

Recalled was the tradition, "Telling the Bees," kept alive in the poetry of John Greenleaf Whittier and Eugene Field It held that the bees must be told when a member of a family dies—and the hive draped with a shred of black—lest the bees leave their hive.

Today's Pupils Show Lack of English Skills

CORVALLIS, Ore. (INS) — Results of a test at Oregon State College tend to support the belief that high school graduates had a better knowledge of English a generation ago than they do nowadays.

The English department at Oregon State College gave a 1927 English placement examination to the 1,800 freshmen.

The freshmen of 1927 did better on spelling and formal grammar. The students of 1956 and 1927 are about equal on English usage and punctuation.

Students averaged 53 mistakes in the 163-question test in 1927 This school year the average was 66 mistakes.

Dr. Herbert B Nelson, head of the English department, said the big difference was in the 50-word spelling section. Such words as similar, laboratory, privilege and apologize were far more bothersome this year than 29 years ago.

The difference in the formal grammar section was slight. Nelson reported In this section students were asked to identify prepositional phrases, participial phrases, adjective clauses, adverb clauses, noun clauses, independent clauses and appositives.

The best result in the test this year was 21 mistakes and the poorest—119 mistakes.

Total stocks of 3 5 million tons of feed grains on farms January 1, 1956 are the second largest January stocks on record, only six per cent below January 1949, according to the Crop Reporting board

17-Year Locusts Slated For Periodical Showing

CHICAGO (NANA) — Hordes of insects which went underground while Hitler was preparing to invade Poland and today's high school students were in diapers are about to re-enact one of science's great dramas.

In several parts of the country, the 17-year locusts any day now will start emerging around tree trunks. They'll set up a din with their song and begin their cycle of courtship, mating, egg-laying and death all over again.

The children of the present locust generation will go below ground to re-emerge when President Eisenhower is an elder statesman of 82 and when a child born today is a high school junior of 17.

On the "invasion" list for this locust onslaught are Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia in the east, and in even more widespread areas of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kentucky. But although the event fascinates entomologists, these "bug scientists" also stress that the layman need not be alarmed.

Aside from causing a few twigs to snap off, the insects cause no damage Fears of "locust plauges" stem from a confusion in names, it was explained by Dr. Henry S. Dybas, associate curator of insects at the Chicago Natural History Museum.

The "17-year locust" is actually a cicada unfortunately associated with the real villains of nature — the great swarms of insects which sweep over the Middle East But these crop-destroyers aren't locusts either — but rather swarming grasshoppers.

To further confound the entomologists, the locusts which pop out of holes in the ground in the U.S. don't always work on a 17-year cycle In the South, they follow a 13-year pattern of birth and death.

In this year of the locusts, Dr. Dybas suggests the bugs be rechristened "the periodical cicada" to ease the confusion.

In the world of the entomologist, the cicada's life-cycle is as dramatic as a total eclipse of the sun or an earthquake in other sciences. The hard, dark insect about an inch long should not be confused with other American cicadas, warns Dr Dubas. These include the dog-day or harvest fly which suddenly sets up a shrill buzz-saw sound in the treetops on hot summer days.

The real 17-year locusts will emerge on nature's stage as soft creamy-white adults. As if on signal, thousands will crawl out of the ground and up on plants and trees, where after resting for a while, they split their horny skins down the back and walk out of their 17-year-old "houses."

They rest again as they harden and darken. The life cycle starts again with the depositing of eggs in slits cut into twigs. While the female goes quietly about this work, the male sets up a distracting din by rapidly snapping a set of breastplates over a built-in echo chamber in his abdomen.

While the adult locusts continue merrily on to their end, the nymphs drop inconspicuously to the ground, where they burrow down into the soil, taking up a 17-year lease on a little cell they form strategically close to a rootlet which will yield a little life-giving juice over the years. This is not believed to injure the plants.

Not the least baffling of the mysteries still persisting about one of the insect world's most colorful characters is how the different broods got off schedule. Dr. Dybas explained that the insects move in broods, some of whose records date back to the 19th century. Some of these family groups somehow slipped in a shorter-than-17-year schedule. Most in the Dixie group keep the 13-year routine, but even this brood has a number of rebels against staying on timetable.

You can be sure, however, that for the nation's biggest and most representative brood — it's called Brood XIII — this is really the year of the 17-year locust, and another generation of cicada will shortly start doing the insect Rip Van Winkle trick, to emerge 17 years hence and see what's happened meanwhile on the planet.

Bucyrus

Announcement is being made here of the engagement of Miss Joyce L. Corwin to Richard E. Kline, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Kline, Bucyrus. Miss Corwin is the daughter of Arnold Corwin, Bucyrus, and Mrs. Eugene Gregg of Columbus.

A graduate of Bucyrus High School, Miss Corwin is employed as a deputy in the Crawford County Clerk of Courts office. Mr. Kline is a graduate of Chatfield High School and Ohio State University, Columbus. He is employed in the Swan Rubber Co. office here.

A September wedding is planned by the couple.

At the annual election of officers held here Monday night by the Our Ladies' Guild of Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Mrs. Nick Kuhn was elected president. Other officers are vice president, Mrs. David Truka; secretary, Mrs Joseph Sherbundy; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Tieben; sunshine chairman, Mrs. J. R. Blue.

—:—

Miss Elaine M. Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kent, Bucyrus, became the bride of Frederick H. Welge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merris A. Welge, Bucyrus, in a double ring service performed Sunday afternoon in Good Hope Lutheran Church here by the Rev. E. J. Katterhenrich, church pastor.

Miss Penny Click was maid of honor and bridesmaids were the Misses Violet Rossman, Joyce West and Victoria Chesser and Mrs. Bruce Ryland. Rebecca Ann Young was flower girl. Best man was Merris Welge Jr., a brother of the bridegroom, and ushers included Albert Stoltz, Jack Keller, Robert Sponseller and Robert Erwin.

Preceding the ceremony, a half-hour musical interlude was presented by Curtis Kuenzli, organist, and Sherry McClellan, vocalist.

A reception was held in the church social rooms following the ceremony. Hostesses included the Misses Beverly Emig, Nancy Frasch, Jacqueline Slane, Mary Stevens and Virginia Sullivan.

Mrs. Welge was graduated last month from Bucyrus High School. Her husband, a 1954 graduate, is an apprentice machinist at the Timken Roller Bearing Co. plant here. They will make their home here following their return from a trip through the south.

Beachcombers Try Off-Shore Island

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (INS)— For primitive beachcombing within a stone's throw of civilization, few areas can match Padre Island off the Texas coast.

The narrow strip of white sand, which stretches 200 miles from near Corpus Christi to Port Isabel, is reached over a toll causeway at its norther tip.

There are no settlements or improved roads, but driving is easy and campsites are numerous.

Snail Business Owned By Oklahoma Youth, 11

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Jimmy Paulk, 11, says a full-grown snail in good health can go about an inch in 15 seconds. And Jimmy should know. He's in the snail business—sells them for three for a nickel and he has about 400 of them.

Jimmy says snails are used by owners of fish bowls and aquariums because they eat the scum that fish leave.

"They're real easy to raise and no mess or bother," Jimmy said "You put the male and the female together and they raise eggs."
